Gov. Rhodes Holds Talks With Nixon

Ohio Leader May Be Selected For Top Federal Post

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon will be talking this week to Republican governors and senators about federal appointments and programs—with Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes apparently leading the parade.

Rhodes, whose state went for Nixon over Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, was expected to meet today with the 1968 presidential winner at Nixon's office suite in the Pierre Hotel.

Other GOP notables, their names not yet announced, also were understood to be on Nixon's office schedule for the immediate future.

There was no indication, however, that New York's Republican governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, would be among the early arrivals. Rockefeller who contested Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination, is mentioned as a possible Cabinet choice in the Republican administration that takes office Jan. 20.

Nixon and his family spent a quiet Sunday—apart from hurly-burly walks between their Fifth Avenue apartment and the Plaza Hotel, at the foot of Central Park, where they had a late brunch.

The President-elect and Mrs. Nixon, their daughter Julie and prospective son-in-law David Eisenhower went to morning services at the Marble Collegiate Church where Miss Nixon and the grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will be married Dec. 22.

The book-writing pastor, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, in his pastoral prayer, asked God's guidance and "sustaining power" for the President and the President-elect. At the end of the service, Dr. Peale asked the congregation to remain in place while he stepped down from his pulpit to greet "our dear friends, the President-elect and his family."

In his sermon, entitled "Never Doubt—God is on Your Side," Dr. Peale said, "That God loves you is the greatest truth ever enunciated. God doesn't want anyone to be hungary and oppressed. He just puts His big arms around everybody and hugs them up against Himself."

In early afternoon, the Nixons strolled the several blocks from their apartment to the Plaza, where they dined in the Edwardian Room. Among other pa-

McNea Set To Resign In Dispute

McConnell Returns To Coaching Duty; Board Action Due

An investigation by three Ohio education groups loomed today into the East Liverpool school controversy which reportedly has brought the temporary suspension of Robert McNea, high school athletic director.

The board of education is scheduled to meet in special session Tuesday night to review the latest developments in the faculty friction.

McNea and 13 sports coaches and aides today declared they planned to submit their resignations this afternoon at 4 as a result of what they termed the suspension of McNea.

Clinton McConnell, basketball coach, and four of his aides resigned Friday in protest over "interference" from McNea's policy, declaring they could not in good conscience comply with the athletic and education policies."

SUPT. PAUL Blair issued a statement this morning which read, "Upon a meeting held by the administration and Clint McConnell and after serious study of the issues involved, Mr. McConnell has withdrawn his resignation and advised the administration that basketball practice will resume on Monday (today) at the regularly scheduled time."

McNea, 44, who came to East Liverpool in 1964, and 13 other coaches this morning stated the administration "has accepted the ultimatum of the basketball coach to temporarily release the athletic director . . from his duties."

Supt. Blair said no such action has been taken. Asked if McNea's duties have been curtailed, Blair said, "No official action has been taken."

THE FRICTION between McNea and McConnell which has spread through much of the faculty in the past year, brought suspension of classes Friday when a number of teachers did not report for work.

The board of education is considering a request for a study of the whole situation by the Ohio School Boards Association, the Ohio School Administrators Association and the Ohio Department of Education.

A STATEMENT issued by the football coaches and others this morning read:

"The administration of East Liverpool schools has accepted the ultimatum of basketball coach, Clinton McConnell, to temporarily release Athletic Director Robert McNea from his duties pending an investigation.

"This clearly indicates a rejection of the athletic policy to have a well-balanced sports program which makes every effort to give every student at East Liverpool High School an opportunity to participate in varied interscholastic activities. This action will cause the other seven sports of the school athletic program to suffer, and East Liverpool to be reduced to a one-sport school.

"Therefore, the following members of the athletic staff will submit their resignations

Rescuers Enter Mine

No Contact Made With Missing Men

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The sound of gurgling water and pebbles falling, not voices, was all rescuers heard today in the search for 78 men trapped in a smoldering coal mine for five days.

There's no sign of life at the present time in the hole," said a coal company official, Ralph Hatch, after the first of the night-long testings with a sensitive microphone. The listening device—capable of "picking up a whisper at 100 feet" — was dropped through a drilling hole into one of the mine's passageways 785 feet below the surface.

Two rescue teams also probed into the mine shafts Sunday but found no trace of the men who have been trapped since early Wednesday when explosions thundered through the sprawling Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine. The other 21 men on the midnight shift either escaped or were pulled to the surface.

The rescue units reported finding evidences of concussion and clear air as one poked 4,500 feet into one shaft, the deepest penetration.

John Corcoran, president of Consolidation Coal Co., Mountaineer's parent firm, sent the resuce teams into the mine "because I still have that ray of hope that these men will be found alive."

Conditions Better

Corcoran said the teams could enter because of "conditions stabilizing" in the mine. He noted there had been no explosions since Friday morning and smoke from the mine's portals had diminished considerably.

But at 2 a.m. today, James McCartney, Consolidation public relations counsel, said "no further exploration of the underground areas" is planned "pending further information."

"It is felt that it would be endangering the lives of the mine rescue teams unduly to have them proceed further into the mine than they already have," McCartney said.

McCartney read a statement issued after a meeting in nearby Monongah of Consolidation officials, representatives of the U.S. Bureau of Mines and West Virginia Department of Mines, and the United Mine Workers union.

There had been no contact with any of the men since the first of the chain of explosions Wednesday. Several explosions followed within a few hours and

Financial Experts Watch Situation

Franc Appears Stronger As Money Market Opens

PARIS (AP) — The franc strengthened today as Europe's major foreign exchange markets reopened, and in West Germany speculators rushed to exchange stocks of marks for U.S. dollars.

Government leaders and financial experts watched closely for indications whether President Charles de Gaulle's new austerity program can save the French currency from devaluation.

West German commercial banks maintained their restrictions on the franc, accepting only 500 marks worth at a rate of 69 marks per 100 francs. But within half an hour after trading opened, the central Deutsche Bundesbank had lost an estimated $200 million of the vast dollar balance it accumulated during the weeks that speculators had been buying marks with francs.

Dollar Goes Up

The dollar rose sharply to 3.9770 marks from its lowest intervention point of 3.9700.

The West German government's refusal to revalue its currency upward and De Gaulle's refusal to devalue his had removed the prospects of a speculative profit from a more valuable mark or conversion to a cheaper franc.

In advance of the opening of the Paris market, the franc was firm in unofficial transactions between French banks at 4.95-4.96 to the dollar and 11.8245 to the pound sterling, the strongest showing it has made since the student-worker rebellion in May.

The bank-to-bank transactions usually reflect sentiment in the French financial community accurately.

The dollar, the pound and the franc all opened firmer on the Zurich market. Dealers reported demand for the franc slightly exceeded supply, with the opening price for 100 French francs at between 86.63-86.77 Swiss

Repairs To Cost $11 Million

Cracks Develop In Wings Of Air Force's Work Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The C130, workhorse aircraft of the Vietnam war, has developed serious wing cracks which will cost the Air Force more than $11 million to repair, Air Force officers report.

The problem has turned up in hundreds of C130s but apparently was detected before it led to any fatal crashes.

The C130 is used as a troop and supply carrier, weather observation craft, a pick-up plane for satellites dropping special reconnaissance photos into the sea, a pilot rescue plant and a gunship.

To keep the busy craft flying, the Air Force has been putting special reinforcing plates on the wings.

But to "insure a long future life" many C130 models must have virtually an entire new wing, the Air Force said.

A new wing section will be installed in approximately 400 C130 models B through E series.

Not affected is the C130A. the version which has been converted to the "Puff the Magic Dragon" gunship which can fire thousands of rounds per minute in support of ground troops.

The wing problem came to light a few days ago when the Air Force awarded Lockheed Aircraft Corp. a $7.7-million contract for "design, fabrication and installation" of a new C130 wing.

In response to questions the Air Force said cracks had been discovered in the C130 wing skin during regular inspection.

Besides the $7.7 million, the Air Force said $3.86 million had been spent on other corrective measures, indicating that each C130 fix-up is costing the Air Force around $29,000.

Lockheed has built some 2,000 to 3,000 C130s.

Clear, Cold Tonight; Some Rain Tuesday

Clear and cold weather is due again tonight, with the low in the middle to upper 20s.

The Tuesday forecast calls for increasing cloudiness with occasional rain by late afternoon and not much change in temperature.

Temperatures through Saturday will average a little above normal, with highs in the mid 40s to low 50s and lows in the mid 30s.

Three Killed In Weirton Car Mishaps

WEIRTON — Three persons, including two college students and a millworker, were injured fatally and another student was hurt seriously in a two-car collision on the Main St. overhead bridge at 6:20 a.m. Sunday.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Weirton General Hospital with head injuries were Trent Ciarrocchi Jr., 21, of 100 Bellvue Dr., Weirton; William Entinger, 20, of 239 Opal Blvd., Steubenville, and Michael L. DiBacco, 30, of Avella, Pa.

Vincent Scotti, 19, of Greentree Rd., Pittsburgh, remains "critical" in the hospital with head injuries.

Drivers of the two compact cars involved in the accident were Ciarrocchi and DiBacco. Entinger and Scotti were passengers in the Ciarrocchi car.

Weirton police reported the force of the collision was so great that they have been unable as yet to determine in which direction the cars were traveling. They said upon arrival at the scene they found

Heavy Fighting Breaks Out Over Weekend In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. jet planes were attacked by MIG fighters and surface to air missiles and downed over North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today.

In a terse announcement, the Command said an unarmed reconnaissance aircraft and an armed fighter, which often accompany reconnaissance sorties, were downed in separate incidents.

"Suppressive fire," presumably bombing and strafing runs, was used in attempts to rescue the downed crewmen, the command said, adding that all further details were being withheld until rescue efforts were completed.

Earlier, Radio Hanoi had said an American reconnaissance pilot had been captured after his plane was shot down 175 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

In the South, American ground and air forces killed 155 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers in three clashes northwest and southwest of Saigon while suffering five Americans killed and 10 wounded.

But enemy gunners fired more than 200 rounds of rockets and mortars into five south vietnamese towns and a dozen allied bases Sunday night. Military spokesmen said 13 Vietnamsee soldiers and seven civilians were killed, while the wounded included 25 South Viet-

Police Arrest Youth, 19, On Drug Charge

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Wheeling police have arrested a McKeesport, Pa., teen-ager and charged him with possession of narcotics, the second such arrest in the area in three days.

Timothy David Reed, 19, was being held Sunday in lieu of $10,000 bond on the possession charge.

Police said they recovered 13 packages of marijuana, worth $65, and 27 capsules of a barbituate, tuninal, known among drug users as "rainbows."

The narcotics, police related, were recovered from the trunk of a car parked in downtown Wheeling. The car belonged to a McKeesport woman, who was picked up along with another

Welfare: A Knotty Problem

A knotty topic the next Congress must confront is welfare.

The list of Americans on the dole is growing at an alarming rate. By the first of next year, New York City will probably have more than a million relief recipients on its rolls—representing a 100 per cent increase over 1965.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has proposed making relief applicants eligible for welfare merely on their own statements of need, without investigation.

THE SUGGESTION has touched off a new round of heated discussion.

As could be expected the area of welfare has not escaped the militant revolutionary fervor movement.

The National Welfare Rights Organization has proclaimed the week beginning Monday as "National Get It Week," whatever that means.

The militant group also is encouraging its claimed 30,000 members in 70 cities to "spend the rent" in December. Welfare clients presumably would be spending their rent checks on items not covered by relief checks.

The Washington Post last week quoted the organization's director, George Wiley, declaring that Thanksgiving Day has been set aside for special demonstrations.

Welfare recipients are being asked to turn down gifts of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets and to say "no thanks, America" for the "inadequate dole" they get.

The so-called negative income tax idea has been around for some time but hasn't moved sizeable numbers of people to its point of view.

Its stock may have gone up with the election of Richard M. Nixon as the next U.S. president. Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, a strong advocate of giving an allowance to families below a certain income level, is close to Mr. Nixon.

A NEW IDEA is being circulated by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in New York City calling for a cash weekly children's allowance. Each family, whether or not wage-eligible individuals were employed, would be given $5 a week for every child.

With rtlief rolls in America swelled beyond the 9-million mark and growing all the time, Congress cannot escape the issue.

No one is offering a panacea and no one is likely to devise one.

Stormy debate is the only safe prediction of what will develop when members of Congress take up the problem. They are faced with the task of reforming a controversial program to satisfy the needs of the poor while justifying it to the taxpayer.

The Also Rans

Waterford Park apparently will still have a firm hold on the hearts of Western Pennsylvania horse racing fans for some time as a result of the hard to understand descision of the new Keystone State's Racing Commission to ignore that part of the state for the time being.

With four franchises to be granted for flat racing, the commission approved three for the eastern section of the state and one near the capital at Harrisburg. Two applicants from the Pittsburgh area and near Beaver County were given only a recommendation the General Assembly license a fifth track.

So Waterford will remain the Mecca of the Pennsylvania followers of the 'sport of kings' for a while yet. And there's nothing wrong with that . . . or so West Virginia tax collectors, the track operators and employes think.

More Fishing Holes?

Like a lot of other traditional things, the traditional nine - month school year is coming under scrutiny in these fast-changing times.

Eighty or more school districts around the country, 22 of them in New York State alone, are seriously considering moving to a longer school year, reports the National Education Association.

This is still a tiny number but could be indicative of a trend, for the same factors influencing officials in these districts operate everywhere—the rising cost of building and maintaining school plants, growing enrollments, the demand for better educational opportunities for children and teachers' demands for improved economic and professional status.

The arguments in favor of a full-year school year are numerous and logical. For one thing, it is certainly wasteful for costly facilities and equipment to be locked up during the summer months.

If existing school buildings were fully utilized, fewer new ones would need to be constructed, it is said. And with fewer teachers needed to staff new schools, present teacher salaries could be raised.

Another argument for the longer school year is the need to keep youths busy and off the streets during the summer months.

"The picture of a vacation lad wending his way to the fishing hole no longer portrays life in our urban society," says the NEA. "Today's youth more often faces steaming asphalt streets at worst, or two weeks at summer camp at best. Proponents believe that summer attendance at school could substantially reduce juvenile delinquency."

Allied to this is something called "pupil acceleration," which means graduating students a year earlier than at present — thus making them smarter faster as well as, again, helping the taxpayer get more miles per gallon out of existing schools and teacher talents.

It can't be denied that today's youths need to learn a lot more than their parents had to, yet it is this very argument that may give many parents pause.

Toward what or into what are today's already accelerated children to be accelerated?

It somehow smacks of the same kind of adult thinking that can't leave kids to themselves to play pick-up baseball in an empty lot. Instead, they have to be put into uniforms and supervised, professionalized and ulcerized ahead of their time.

It may be true that the vacation lad wending his way to the fishing hole is a picture of a world that no longer exists.

But could it possibly be that what we really need are more fishing holes?

Heidi's Fans Gripe

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Last Sunday all hell broke loose when NBC cut off the last minute and 15 seconds of the New York Jets-Oakland Raiders pro football game so it could get on with its dramatization of "Heidi." Football fans all over the country had apoplexy, not only because they couldn't see the finish of the game, but because the Raiders scored two touchdowns in the last 75 seconds.

Art Buchwald

Men who wouldn't get out of their chairs during an earthquake rushed to the phones to scream obscenities at the man responsible for cutting off the game.

Telephone circuits were blown out by the fury and the president of NBC had to apologize publicly for the dastardly deed.

UNFORTUNATELY, AS HAPPENS in these cases, the only ones heard from were the football fans. So much was written about their anguish that the Heidi fans were ignored. No one bothered to find out how they felt about it.

To put the thing back into perspective, an organization has been formed called "The Friends of Heidi," and its purpose is not only to protect her good name, but also to bring pressure on NBC to shorten their football games.

Dete Rottenmeier, the president of "The Friends of Heidi," said his organization felt that by presenting the story of "Heidi" for only two hours, NBC had shortchanged American children.

"The program should have started at least a half-hour earlier. It would have been a simple matter for NBC to cut off the game at halftime and start the 'Heidi' program then," he said.

"Why do you say that?"

"HOW MANY CHANCES do you get to see a good drama on television? If NBC had explained to the few people who were watching the Jets-Raiders game that they were going to pre-empt a portion of the match so the children could see an extra half-hour of 'Heidi,' I doubt if there would have been one complaint. In fact, we know that most of the men were watching the football game only to pass time until 'Heidi' came on the air."

"I hadn't realized that," I said.

"Of course. The thing that got people mad was not that the game had been cut off in the last 75 seconds, but that it had been going on as long as it had, with the result still in doubt. There is no reason to put on a football game if people have to wait until the very last minute to find out who has won."

"I personally thought the 'Heidi' show was just the right length. What would you have done with the extra half-hour?"

"SHOWN MORE OF SWITZERLAND. Because of the football game, the 'Heidi' producers weren't able to do justice to the Swiss Alps. You never really got the feeling why Heidi really wanted to come back home."

"What are 'The Friends of Heidi' going to do to prevent something like this from happening again?"

"We've asked NBC to apologize publicly for running the football game so long, and we're demanding that 'Heidi' be shown again for those who missed it."

"We're asking them to pre-empt the Super Bowl. After all, if you've seen one pro football game, you've seen them all."

Big City's Inner War

WASHINGTON — One of these days, there will flash across the land a report that one of our neighborhoods, perhaps even one of our cities, is missing. Then the raucous history of our times will have added a new burning epic to the ancient sagas of Chicago and San Francisco — because firefighters, hampered by sharpshooting riflemen, an occasional machine gunner, roving rooftop guerilla bands, dynamiters, and distracted by tens of thousands of false alarms, could not get to the conflagration on time.

Victor Riesel

This is the nightmare with which the firefighters' new national union president, William (Howie) McClennan, lives, amid gory statistics, during his long days at his national headquarters here. Reports from 11 tough cities reveal that in 1967, 82.5 per cent of the firemen in those communities were injured on duty. Many were hurt during civil disturbances.

"All fires except explosions and holocausts start small," says Howie McClennan, the kind of "fireman" my predecessors in old city rooms used to call "smoke-eaters." "And then they spread fast if our men don't get to them on time.

"And if we're harrassed on the way to the flames, or if, when we get there, we run into guerilla fire and have to withdraw, whole neighborhoods can go up — even the greater part of an entire city.

"I'M NOT AN alarmist. But we know the brutality of fire. We want to fight fires, not people. We'll do the best we can, but we need help from the 91st Congress, from the communities, from mayors, and most of all, from the people whose neighborhoods we're trying to save."

What "bugs" the otherwise jolly, 240-pounder, now moving his family down from Boston to lead the 135,000-member International Assn. of Fire Fighters (AFL-CIO), is the delaying of "the full response of equipment" until fire alarms are checked out. This is vital because false alarms have increased by 75 per cent in recent years.

A battalion chief in an unmarked car, accompanied by one truck, rushes to the reported fire to see whether a false alarm has brought him there or heavier equipment is needed. Then, if it's not an ambush or a garden variety false alarm, he reports back by shortwave radio and the trucks race in.

These firefighters still are under siege. Sharpshooters still are hitting speeding apparatus in West Coast communities. Cleveland has been the "guerilla center."

The men still run into booby-trapped staircases. Steps are cut away so they fall back onto a lower landing when they rush up to higher floors with hoses. They still are snared into ambush at buildings, atop which are caches of bricks, spiked beer cans, milk cartons and containers, and even heavy refrigerator parts.

These firemen are only human. And so they scout the alarms — and if some day there is an ambush when heavy equipment is needed but has been awaiting the checkout, an entire neighborhood may go up in flames.

LAST WEEK, Howie McClennan sat with the union's Special Committee of the International Assn. of Firefighters on Problems Affecting Fire Service and Fire Fighters During Riots and Civil Disorders. This is made up of fire union representatives from the 12 cities considered by the union to be the nation's worst problem areas: Cleveland, Cincinnati, Louisville, Detroit, Boston, Buffalo, New York, Baltimore, Oakland, San Diego, Los Angeles and Chicago.

At the end of a long session, the men said, in effect, "Our job is to save lives. There is no building structure valuable enough to be worth the loss of the life of a single firefighter. There is need for an educational campaign to convince those in the inner cities who are hostile to firefighters that firefighters are in fact their friends. We fight fires, not people."

They added bluntly that, without adequate protection, their union brethren "should not be expected to stay at the disturbance scene, and the decision as to whether fire equipment and firefighters should be kept in the area or pulled out should be made by the fire service officer or man in charge, since only he is qualified to make the necessary evaluation."

The firefighters don't want to carry arms. They want all equipment to have plexiglass windows and enclosures for all personnel.

THERE HAS BEEN NO proper preplanning, says the committee, for provision of seeping, feeding and medical facilities for the firefighters during civil disorder, riots and other local disturbances resulting in fire.

"Too many mayors," says the committee, "or chief administrative officials or legislative bodies have failed miserably in their responsibility to their citizens and the fire service . . . They will not appropriate the funds for adequate protective gear or adequate police protection."

Howie McClennan's colleagues want friends — in and out of the central city. They're eager to reach out and help, as they once did when the community made it possible. Many a down-and-outer was fed and babies were born in firehouses. Now, says Mr. McClennan, line-of-duty injuries have jumped to almost 60,000, more than twice the average in the past 10 years. Ghetto area riots are the major factor in this sharp rise.

But they'll learn to protect themselves if need be. They're urging their local unions to send cadres to the Pentagon's Civil Disorder Directorate's school at Camp Gordon, Ga.

Fighting fires is a tough way to earn a living — and dodging bullets, fire bombs and missiles at the same time doesn't make it easier.

Does no one really care? Where are those in and out of the central city who will speak out?

The Inner Staff

President-elect Nixon has intimated that he plans to reduce the size and influence of the President's inner staff of advisers. This, like so many New Year's resolutions, may not outlast the winter. But it shows that he understands what has become a serious disarrangement in the federal establishment.

Woodrow Wilson, like most of his predecessors, had only one male secretary. The faithful and politically sophisticated Joseph Patrick Tumulty not only arranged the President's appointments but was the contact with the press and the liaison with Congress and the cabinet.

Herbert Hoover had three men with the title of secretary and also a man who was called special assistant to the president.

WHEN FDR BECAME PRESIDENT the jealous Louis Howe assumed sole title to the office of secretary and reduced Marvin McIntyre and Stephen Early to assistant secretaryships. And he abolished the office of assistant.

After Howe's death and in the second Roosevelt term, Congress passed the Reoganization Act. This provided for six "assistants to the president." They were, according to one of the authors of the legislation, to have a "passion for anonymity," a phrase attributed to Sir Morris Hankey, long secretary of the British cabinet.

Needless to say, these were not anonymous people. They were both seen and heard. And during World War II all sorts of advisers and functionaries accumulated in the White House.

In the Eisenhower years advisers and specialists gathered like flies on a fruit cake. Over them lorded Sherman Adams as a sort of exalted prime minister.

It was in the Eisenhower era when there was as unprecedented growth of the White House staff. The budget for fiscal 1962, which was prepared by President Eisenhower, estimated the total cost of the White House staff at $4,112,000. This was to cover 272 people.

Some of this was for the many faceless factotums who shuffle papers and maintain the routine business of the executive office. The physical maintenance of the place is another category.

But in the Camelot era President Kennedy enlarged his staff with quite an array of well-known and well-publicized personalities. Presumably this was to win the "intellectuals" of the country by giving some of them a piece of the action. This cost an additional $250,000 in the 1964 budget.

Lyndon Johnson, with somewhat less accent upon the academic, but with more pay, enlarged the estimates until, in the present fiscal year 1969, the figure reached $3,229,000 of which $2,707,000 is for salaries.

But the most interesting evidence of growth is that there is provision for 14 people with salaries up to $30,000. This is beyond the compensations of most college presidents and is only a rather small margin below that of cabinet members. And it was recently reported that the first Nixon designee as a presidential assistant, Bryce Harlow, is to get the top figure mentioned above.

The nonpecuniary advantages of those top positions are considerable. Their letters go on prestigious White House stationery and their telephones are on the White House board. And when they decide to leave they are eagerly sought by private agencies for jobs in the $100,000 range.

THE UNFORTUNATE CONSEQUENCE of the great growth of the White House staff is that it diminishes the responsibility and prestige of the office cabinet. Surrounded as he was by superadvisers, why should the president use the cabinet as counsel? In fact, JFK called fewer and fewer cabinet meetings. Why consult the secretary of state when he had under his roof the ex-Harvard dean, McGeorge Bundy, and the royal historian, Arthur Schelsinger? And also brother Robert.

It will be well if the new president should restore the official cabinet to its historical role—a real council of advisers. And Richard Nixon should know that better than anyone else.

For when President Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack, "prime minister" Adams took over and Vice President Nixon was allowed only a seat in the Adams office.

Welfare: A Knotty Problem

A knotty topic the next Congress must confront is welfare.

The list of Americans on the dole is growing at an alarming rate. By the first of next year, New York City will probably have more than a million relief recipients on its rolls—representing a 100 per cent increase over 1965.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has proposed making relief applicants eligible for welfare merely on their own statements of need, without investigation.

THE SUGGESTION has touched off a new round of heated discussion.

As could be expected the area of welfare has not escaped the militant revolutionary fervor movement.

The National Welfare Rights Organization has proclaimed the week beginning Monday as "National Get It Week," whatever that means.

The militant group also is encouraging its claimed 30,000 members in 70 cities to "spend the rent" in December. Welfare clients presumably would be spending their rent checks on items not covered by relief checks.

The Washington Post last week quoted the organization's director, George Wiley, declaring that Thanksgiving Day has been set aside for special demonstrations.

Welfare recipients are being asked to turn down gifts of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets and to say "no thanks, America" for the "inadequate dole" they get.

The so-called negative income tax idea has been around for some time but hasn't moved sizeable numbers of people to its point of view.

Its stock may have gone up with the election of Richard M. Nixon as the next U.S. president. Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, a strong advocate of giving an allowance to families below a certain income level, is close to Mr. Nixon.

A NEW IDEA is being circulated by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in New York City calling for a cash weekly children's allowance. Each family, whether or not wage-eligible individuals were employed, would be given $5 a week for every child.

With rtlief rolls in America swelled beyond the 9-million mark and growing all the time, Congress cannot escape the issue.

No one is offering a panacea and no one is likely to devise one.

Stormy debate is the only safe prediction of what will develop when members of Congress take up the problem. They are faced with the task of reforming a controversial program to satisfy the needs of the poor while justifying it to the taxpayer.

The Also Rans

Waterford Park apparently will still have a firm hold on the hearts of Western Pennsylvania horse racing fans for some time as a result of the hard to understand descision of the new Keystone State's Racing Commission to ignore that part of the state for the time being.

With four franchises to be granted for flat racing, the commission approved three for the eastern section of the state and one near the capital at Harrisburg. Two applicants from the Pittsburgh area and near Beaver County were given only a recommendation the General Assembly license a fifth track.

So Waterford will remain the Mecca of the Pennsylvania followers of the 'sport of kings' for a while yet. And there's nothing wrong with that . . . or so West Virginia tax collectors, the track operators and employes think.

More Fishing Holes?

Like a lot of other traditional things, the traditional nine - month school year is coming under scrutiny in these fast-changing times.

Eighty or more school districts around the country, 22 of them in New York State alone, are seriously considering moving to a longer school year, reports the National Education Association.

This is still a tiny number but could be indicative of a trend, for the same factors influencing officials in these districts operate everywhere—the rising cost of building and maintaining school plants, growing enrollments, the demand for better educational opportunities for children and teachers' demands for improved economic and professional status.

The arguments in favor of a full-year school year are numerous and logical. For one thing, it is certainly wasteful for costly facilities and equipment to be locked up during the summer months.

If existing school buildings were fully utilized, fewer new ones would need to be constructed, it is said. And with fewer teachers needed to staff new schools, present teacher salaries could be raised.

Another argument for the longer school year is the need to keep youths busy and off the streets during the summer months.

"The picture of a vacation lad wending his way to the fishing hole no longer portrays life in our urban society," says the NEA. "Today's youth more often faces steaming asphalt streets at worst, or two weeks at summer camp at best. Proponents believe that summer attendance at school could substantially reduce juvenile delinquency."

Allied to this is something called "pupil acceleration," which means graduating students a year earlier than at present — thus making them smarter faster as well as, again, helping the taxpayer get more miles per gallon out of existing schools and teacher talents.

It can't be denied that today's youths need to learn a lot more than their parents had to, yet it is this very argument that may give many parents pause.

Toward what or into what are today's already accelerated children to be accelerated?

It somehow smacks of the same kind of adult thinking that can't leave kids to themselves to play pick-up baseball in an empty lot. Instead, they have to be put into uniforms and supervised, professionalized and ulcerized ahead of their time.

It may be true that the vacation lad wending his way to the fishing hole is a picture of a world that no longer exists.

But could it possibly be that what we really need are more fishing holes?

Heidi's Fans Gripe

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Last Sunday all hell broke loose when NBC cut off the last minute and 15 seconds of the New York Jets-Oakland Raiders pro football game so it could get on with its dramatization of "Heidi." Football fans all over the country had apoplexy, not only because they couldn't see the finish of the game, but because the Raiders scored two touchdowns in the last 75 seconds.

Art Buchwald

Men who wouldn't get out of their chairs during an earthquake rushed to the phones to scream obscenities at the man responsible for cutting off the game.

Telephone circuits were blown out by the fury and the president of NBC had to apologize publicly for the dastardly deed.

UNFORTUNATELY, AS HAPPENS in these cases, the only ones heard from were the football fans. So much was written about their anguish that the Heidi fans were ignored. No one bothered to find out how they felt about it.

To put the thing back into perspective, an organization has been formed called "The Friends of Heidi," and its purpose is not only to protect her good name, but also to bring pressure on NBC to shorten their football games.

They were among nine theft and vandalism cases reported to the department over the weekend.

Jack Backus of North Ridgeville told officers his 1961 model station wagon was looted while parked in a lot in Rural Ln. between midnight Saturday and 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

The intruder took a wallet containing $200; a 3-month-old toy fox terrier; toys; a camera; miscellaneous tools, and a pair of trousers and a jacket, Backus reported. The rear license plate, carrying the legend YY 7154, also was taken from the auto, Backus said.

A burglary at Alex's Carry-Out on Jackson St. was timed between 11 p.m. Saturday and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. The business is owned by James Cunningham of the Cannons Mills Rd.

Officers said $20 to $30 was taken from a cash register. A locked drawer also was forced open, but nothing was taken, police said. Entry was gained by breaking a window on the west side of the building and then crawling between two 2-by-4 boards 9 inches apart, police said.

JOSEPH WEIGAND of 410 Palissey St. told police Saturday afternoon an 18-foot canoe valued at $175 was stolen Friday night or Saturday morning from sawhorses alongside the garage at his home. The canoe is yellow and red and made of fiberglass over wood. It carries Ohio watercraft license B—OH—7439—DB, officers said.

Jean Hanlon of 911 May St. told police two hubcaps were stolen from her 1965 auto Saturday night or early Sunday while it was parked on a lot at City Hospital.

A pane of glass in a door and two classroom windows were broken between 3 p.m. Saturday and 5 p.m. Sunday at East Junior High School, officers said. The damage was reported by Roy Martin, custodian.

Meanwhile, James Davis of 415 Elm St. told police a vandal hurled an object which broke a pane of glass in a storm window at his home about 2:30 a.m. Sunday. Awakened by the crash, he went to the back porch to investigate. Davis said he saw a car full of people halted near his home. Then a shot was fired from the auto, with the bullet striking the ceiling of the porch, and the auto sped away.

ALBERT COY of 1235 Erie St. said a vandal hurled a stone which broke the rear window of his station wagon parked on Erie St. at 10:25 p.m. Saturday.

Three holes were broken in a 4-by-5-foot plate glass window at the Wallover Oil Co. on Virginia Ave. early Sunday, police said. Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon discovered the damage while on routine patrol.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Pelley of 1191 Oakwood Ave. told police Saturday afternoon sections of the hedge on the north side of their home were broken down by a vandal Friday evening.

$200 Stolen From Auto; Store Intruder Gets $20

A Lorain County man told police $200 in cash and many other items — including a dog — were stolen from his parked car in East Liverpool over the weekend, while an intruder obtained $20 to $30 in an entering of a Jackson St. store. HINTS FROM HELOISE

A Sleeve-Saver Trick

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Two wide rubber bands hanging over the kitchen sink can be a time and a g g ravation saver.

Heloise

Before I start to wash the dishes, I slip a rubber band over each cuff of my long-sleeved blouse and pull it up as far as desired.

The rubber band won't bind when placed over the thickness of the cuffs. Plus — no more rolling up and down the sleeves.

Nifty?

DIANE GLOVER.

Sure is luv.

But how about buying or making a couple of those fancy "gay nineties" lace garters?

Wouldn't that knock neighbors, f r i e n d s, teensters and even hubby for a loop? Ha!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I was at my wits' end trying to find enough storage space for all my sweaters.

I finally hit on an idea that left plenty of drawer space for other things.

I got two medium-size cardboard boxes from my grocery, laid them on their side with the opening facing me (they always cut off the tops at my grocery), and arranged my sweaters in them. Then I put the boxes on my closet shelf stacked one on top of the other.

Now I can see my sweaters at a glance and pick out the very one I need. And they stay dust-free and organized.

If I want to I can even store blankets on top of the sweater boxes.

This sure solved my problem and thought others might like to use the idea.

DIANE BROWN.

DEAR HELOISE: A piece of nylon net forced through the spout of a percolator will remove the built up oily stains that help cause a bitter taste.

I use a wooden chop stick to push the net through.

CELIA G. SEGAL.

DEAR HELOISE: Small children love to play hide-and-seek indoors, especially during bad weather. So one word of caution:

Many homes have a cedar chest.

Like the old refrigerators, when the lid is shut, the chest cannot be opened from the inside. A child could easily suffocate if he got trapped in one.

If no key is available to lock it, the latch on the chest should be removed.

I hope all who read this will check it out, as it can prevent a big heartache.

MRS. G. GANTHIER.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have holes in your plaster walls, just take two tablespoons of plaster of Paris, add a few drops of water and some drops of food coloring until you have the color of your walls.

When it begins to thicken, fill the holes. Then use a clean rag to wipe off any excess.

With a little experimenting, you can match almost any color wall.

HUBBY'S HELPER.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the hose of my tank vacuum cleaner to suck up dirt and crumbs from the kitchen floor. And since my clothes dryer is in the kitchen, I just flip open the lint filter and clean it good while I'm at it.

Wiping or brushing lint off the filter doesn't clean it half as well as the vacuum. And it only takes a second.

Premiership In Italy May Go To Rumor

ROME (AP) — Mariano Rumor, with his Christian Democratic party apparently reuniting behind him, appears once more to be in line for Italy's premiership.

Socialist Alessandro Pertini, the premier-designate tapped Sunday by President Giuseppe Saragat, was given little chance to form a government. But Saragat's appointment of the 72-year-old president of the Chamber of Deputies was expected to force the skirmishing Christian Democrats back together, and it appeared to be doing that Sunday night.

Rumor resigned as secretary of Italy's largest party last week. The party council rejected the resignation Sunday night, making him once more the likeliest choice for premier.

Saragat apparently nominated Pertini to give the Christian Democrats and Socialists more time to become reconciled to reunion in a center-left coalition, the only way a majority can be put together in the Chamber of Deputies. This coalition spent five years in power, from 1963 to 1968, but the Socialists bolted after an election setback last May. They are demanding more progressive labor legislation, educational reforms and a greater voice in major government decision as their price for renewal of the alliance.

Pertini was expected to tell Saragat Tuesday or Wednesday whether he has any chance of forming a government and becoming Italy's first postwar premier from outside the Christian Democratic party.

Gold Control Problem

NEW DELHI (AP) — A member of Parliament claimed that more than 11,000 Indian goldsmiths have committed suicide because of a government gold control order. The regulation prohibits the manufacture of 24-carat jewelry in an attempt to cut down gold hoarding, and has therefore cut into I n d i a n goldsmiths' business.

Congressman Sees Trouble Over Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the select committee that originally investigated Adam Clayton Powell says the House should consider barring the Harlem congressman again.

Wisconsin Republican Vernon W. Thomson also questioned in an interview whether the House would obey a Supreme Court order to seat Powell.

"If it should rule that Powell should have been seated, it would create a very serious constitutional impasse," Thomson said.

Thomson, who said he was surprised when the high court agreed earlier this month to hear Powell's appeal, added that Congress has the sole right to judge qualifications of its members.

Thomson said no move is under way to bar Powell, overwhelmingly re-elected Nov. 5, from the next Congress.

"But", he said, "It seems that a Congress which is talking about improving its image and its ethics would give serious consideration to seating a member who has been charged by a select committee of that body with conduct which is highly unethical if not something more serious."

The select committee recommended in 1967 that the House seat Powell but censure him and require payment of $40,000 he allegedly misused for personal expenses.

The House, however, overrode the committee recommendation and excluded Powell from his seat in the 90th congress and stripped him of all seniority.

Later that year Powell won a special election to fill the vacancy but never presented himself for seating.

The Supreme Court agreed Nov. 18 to hear Powell's suit which alleges that the House acted unconstitutionally when it excluded him.

At the time, Powell said he did not think Congress would resent his taking the case to the Supreme Court.

After the Nov. 5 election Powell said he would take his seat in the new Congress even if the 22 years seniority, which had made him chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, were not restored.

New Roads Built

TEL AVIV (AP) — More than 75 miles of roads have been built along the new ceasefire lines with Syria and Jordan since the war last year, according to the director of the Jewish National Fund, Ya'acov Tsur. A new highway is cutting through to the 10,000-foot Mount Hermon in the occupied Golan Heights and a highway is being opened up along the Jordan River between B e i t Shean, in the Beisan Valley, and the Dead Sea.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

A Sleeve-Saver Trick

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Two wide rubber bands hanging over the kitchen sink can be a time and a g g ravation saver.

Heloise

Before I start to wash the dishes, I slip a rubber band over each cuff of my long-sleeved blouse and pull it up as far as desired.

The rubber band won't bind when placed over the thickness of the cuffs. Plus — no more rolling up and down the sleeves.

Nifty?

DIANE GLOVER.

Sure is luv.

But how about buying or making a couple of those fancy "gay nineties" lace garters?

Wouldn't that knock neighbors, f r i e n d s, teensters and even hubby for a loop? Ha!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I was at my wits' end trying to find enough storage space for all my sweaters.

I finally hit on an idea that left plenty of drawer space for other things.

I got two medium-size cardboard boxes from my grocery, laid them on their side with the opening facing me (they always cut off the tops at my grocery), and arranged my sweaters in them. Then I put the boxes on my closet shelf stacked one on top of the other.

Now I can see my sweaters at a glance and pick out the very one I need. And they stay dust-free and organized.

If I want to I can even store blankets on top of the sweater boxes.

This sure solved my problem and thought others might like to use the idea.

DIANE BROWN.

DEAR HELOISE: A piece of nylon net forced through the spout of a percolator will remove the built up oily stains that help cause a bitter taste.

I use a wooden chop stick to push the net through.

CELIA G. SEGAL.

DEAR HELOISE: Small children love to play hide-and-seek indoors, especially during bad weather. So one word of caution:

Many homes have a cedar chest.

Like the old refrigerators, when the lid is shut, the chest cannot be opened from the inside. A child could easily suffocate if he got trapped in one.

If no key is available to lock it, the latch on the chest should be removed.

I hope all who read this will check it out, as it can prevent a big heartache.

MRS. G. GANTHIER.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have holes in your plaster walls, just take two tablespoons of plaster of Paris, add a few drops of water and some drops of food coloring until you have the color of your walls.

When it begins to thicken, fill the holes. Then use a clean rag to wipe off any excess.

With a little experimenting, you can match almost any color wall.

HUBBY'S HELPER.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the hose of my tank vacuum cleaner to suck up dirt and crumbs from the kitchen floor. And since my clothes dryer is in the kitchen, I just flip open the lint filter and clean it good while I'm at it.

Wiping or brushing lint off the filter doesn't clean it half as well as the vacuum. And it only takes a second.

Premiership In Italy May Go To Rumor

ROME (AP) — Mariano Rumor, with his Christian Democratic party apparently reuniting behind him, appears once more to be in line for Italy's premiership.

Socialist Alessandro Pertini, the premier-designate tapped Sunday by President Giuseppe Saragat, was given little chance to form a government. But Saragat's appointment of the 72-year-old president of the Chamber of Deputies was expected to force the skirmishing Christian Democrats back together, and it appeared to be doing that Sunday night.

Rumor resigned as secretary of Italy's largest party last week. The party council rejected the resignation Sunday night, making him once more the likeliest choice for premier.

Saragat apparently nominated Pertini to give the Christian Democrats and Socialists more time to become reconciled to reunion in a center-left coalition, the only way a majority can be put together in the Chamber of Deputies. This coalition spent five years in power, from 1963 to 1968, but the Socialists bolted after an election setback last May. They are demanding more progressive labor legislation, educational reforms and a greater voice in major government decision as their price for renewal of the alliance.

Pertini was expected to tell Saragat Tuesday or Wednesday whether he has any chance of forming a government and becoming Italy's first postwar premier from outside the Christian Democratic party.

Gold Control Problem

NEW DELHI (AP) — A member of Parliament claimed that more than 11,000 Indian goldsmiths have committed suicide because of a government gold control order. The regulation prohibits the manufacture of 24-carat jewelry in an attempt to cut down gold hoarding, and has therefore cut into I n d i a n goldsmiths' business.

Congressman Sees Trouble Over Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the select committee that originally investigated Adam Clayton Powell says the House should consider barring the Harlem congressman again.

Wisconsin Republican Vernon W. Thomson also questioned in an interview whether the House would obey a Supreme Court order to seat Powell.

"If it should rule that Powell should have been seated, it would create a very serious constitutional impasse," Thomson said.

Thomson, who said he was surprised when the high court agreed earlier this month to hear Powell's appeal, added that Congress has the sole right to judge qualifications of its members.

Thomson said no move is under way to bar Powell, overwhelmingly re-elected Nov. 5, from the next Congress.

"But", he said, "It seems that a Congress which is talking about improving its image and its ethics would give serious consideration to seating a member who has been charged by a select committee of that body with conduct which is highly unethical if not something more serious."

The select committee recommended in 1967 that the House seat Powell but censure him and require payment of $40,000 he allegedly misused for personal expenses.

The House, however, overrode the committee recommendation and excluded Powell from his seat in the 90th congress and stripped him of all seniority.

Later that year Powell won a special election to fill the vacancy but never presented himself for seating.

The Supreme Court agreed Nov. 18 to hear Powell's suit which alleges that the House acted unconstitutionally when it excluded him.

At the time, Powell said he did not think Congress would resent his taking the case to the Supreme Court.

After the Nov. 5 election Powell said he would take his seat in the new Congress even if the 22 years seniority, which had made him chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, were not restored.

Judge Handles Long Docket

Defendant With 2 Names, Mute Liven Court's Trials

A 22-year-old motorist who appeared in court with a mass of papers listing him under two names and a Mahoning County deaf mute accused of two traffic violations enlivened the proceedings this morning as Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff heard a docket crowded with an accumulation of weekend cases.

The man with two names was fined a total of $45 and costs under the name of James L. Boston of Hanoverton. He was fined $10 and costs each on charges of crashing a stop sign and failure to transfer registration to a newly - purchased car and $25 and costs on a charge of having two driver's licenses in his possession.

Boston also was carrying a Social Security card and other papers which gave his last name as Sturgill. Questioned by the court, he told Judge Chertoff he formerly went by his step-father's name, but when he reached 18 he began to use his legal name, Boston.

HE ADMITTED he once had driver's licenses in the names of both Boston and Sturgill. Part of the confusion over registration of the new car resulted when he bought it under the name Sturgill and then sought to have the title transferred to himself as Boston, he said.

The defendant was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol on Route 7 Nov. 9 on the stop sign and driver's license charges. Patrolman Arthur Peters of East Liverpool cited him on the registration charge Nov. 13.

The deaf mute was identified as Leonard Mount of Struthers, cited Saturday at 11 p. m. on Jackson St. by Patrolman James Woods on charges of driving the wrong way on a one-way street and failing to wear specatacles while operating his auto.

The judge and Solicitor J. Michael Kapp communicated with Mount with sign language and by writing notes.

Mount was fined $5 and costs on the one-way street charge, but the other count was dismissed.

"I would like to know who issued this man a license when he can't see, can't talk and can't hear," the judge said. After imposing the fine, he said: "Send him on his way; I wish I could suspend his license; he is a menace!"

Carol J. Crubaugh, 18, of 1254 Oakwood Ave. was fined $15 and costs after pleading "no contest" on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. She was cited by the patrol Nov. 17 on Route 7. Edward L. Brown Jr., 18, of Midland, also charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance, was fined $15 and costs. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday on Route 7.

HERBERT A. CHASE, 38, of LaGrange, Ohio, forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited by the patrol Sunday at 7:15 a. m..

Laren Johnson of 315 E. 9th St. was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic light at Market and 5th Sts. He was cited this morning at 1:58. Joseph Gamble of RD 1 paid a fine of $15 and costs after pleading guilty to speeding 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on St. Clair Ave. He was cited at 4:47 this morning.

Vicki Desenze of Commerce St., Wellsville, was ordered to pay the costs on a charge of driving without an operator's permit. She was cited Friday by Lt. Paul Blevins. The court granted a continuance until Friday in the case of John Lyle of 728 Oak St., cited Sunday at 2:25 a. m. on Broadway on charges of driving without an operator's permit and improper auto registration.

Naomi Foley of Beaver, arrested Friday night at Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave. on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, was granted a continuance until Dec. 4 to allow her to secure counsel.

Dorothy M. McGonigal of 521 Bridge St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving an unsafe auto. She was cited Thursday at 1:15 a. m. at Broadway and E. 5th St. The court issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Frank C. Alford of LaCroft, who did not appear for a hearing on a charge of crashing a traffic light at St. Clair Ave. and 6th St. He was cited Saturday at 10:42 p. m.

After Talk With Kosygin

Gore Sees 'Rough Road' For Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who recently talked with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in Moscow, came away feeling "the road is rougher" to reapproachment.

Democrat Albert Gore reported Sunday on a European tour to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels, Soviet-occupied Czechoslovakia, and Moscow. He made the trip with Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and returned Saturday night.

Both senators are members of the Foreign Relations Committee, Gore heading its disarmament subcommittee. He said they were told at the American embassy in Moscow that they were the first American officials to see Kosygin this year.

Gore said he took no formal message to the Soviet leader, but wanted to impress on him—and thinks he succeeded—that the Soviet Invasion of Czechoslovakia last August threatens to wipe out progress made toward easing tension between the United States and Russia.

The two countries, Gore said he told the Soviet leader, have a "mutuality of interests" in avoiding a nuclear war.

Kosygin responded that they have not only a mutuality of interest but a common responsibility for world events. Gore quoted Kosygin as saying that the road toward disarmament must be negotiated in stages, perhaps beginning with an agreement not to deploy antiballistic missiles. These weapons are designed to knock an enemy's intercontinental ballistic missiles from the sky.

"I haven't changed my feeling about the need for reapproachment" Gore said. But, he added, "I come back feeling the road is rougher."

Gore said Kosygin told him it would not be possible for the two countries to negotiate if one has a significant nuclear edge over the other.

The premier's remarks appeared to be directed toward President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who asserted in a nationwide radio broadcast Oct. 24 that America must be able to negotiate with the Soviet Union "not from weakness but with the persuasiveness of respectable and evident power."

Such a philosophy, Kosygin told Gore and Pell, would mean each side would work to strengthen itself and an escalation of the arms race would result.

Gore's report on the hour-and-forty-minute conference last Tuesday was taken from a summary prepared by the American embassy, whose representatives took notes. Under the normal rules for interviews with heads of governments, no direct quotation is permitted.

Kosygin told the two senators that the Soviet Union is committed to peaceful coexistence with the West. And, said Gore, Kosygin appeared surprised when he said the invasion had had a chilling effect on steps toward disarmament.

Mrs. Onassis Troubled By Cameraman

PEAPACK, N.J. (AP) — A photographer who snapped pictures of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis as she took a Sunday stroll in the country has been charged with trespassing.

Authorities said Mrs. Onassis complained that she had been frightened by the photographer, Philippe J. C. Pouliopoulos, as she walked alone at the estate where she is staying with her husband and children.

Police said the photographer drove his car onto the grounds and hid it in a cornfield. They said he broke away when they tried to catch him and he was stopped after a chase on foot of nearly a mile.

Pouliopoulos, a New York City resident who works for Al Ain Ayeache Actualities of Paris, was freed on $25 bond for a hearing in Municipal Court, according to Police Chief Frank J. Gallo.

Mrs. Onassis was wearing a black beret, black turtleneck and slacks. Authorities said she asked that the pictures not be used. They were confiscated but returned.

Man Shoots Sons, Himself In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Garfield Heights machinist killed one of his two sons and seriously wounded the other Sunday before mortally wounding himself with a .38-caliber pistol, the suburb's police said.

Dead were Laxton Gamblin, 30, and his 18-month-old son Dejuan.

The other son, Terry, 6, was in serious condition at Marymount Hospital with a gunshot wound in the back of the neck.

Patrolmen Gerald Bandsuh and Hubert Smykowski said Terry was conscious when they arrived Sunday evening and apparently had been walking around his upstairs bedroom because there were bloodstains on the floor.

"I think I've had a bad dream," police quoted him as saying. Then, he added, "I'm hungry."

In the same hospital as Terry was his mother Brenda, who is being treated for a nervous breakdown she suffered last week.

Garfield Heights Detective Capt. William C. Horrigan said he believed the shootings occurred in the early afternoon because of the remark Terry made about being hungry and the large amount of blood the boy had lost.

The bodies of Gamblin and Dejuan were discovered by police who entered the house after a neighbor became suspicious because she did not see the two boys outside and because Gamblin did not leave for work.

The neighbor, Mrs. John Prybor, said she knocked on the door and when she received no answer, she looked through a window and saw Dejuan lying on the floor.

Police found the bodies of the dead father and son side by side. Nearby was a .38-caliber pistol with three spent shells.

Judge Handles Long Docket

Defendant With 2 Names, Mute Liven Court's Trials

A 22-year-old motorist who appeared in court with a mass of papers listing him under two names and a Mahoning County deaf mute accused of two traffic violations enlivened the proceedings this morning as Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff heard a docket crowded with an accumulation of weekend cases.

The man with two names was fined a total of $45 and costs under the name of James L. Boston of Hanoverton. He was fined $10 and costs each on charges of crashing a stop sign and failure to transfer registration to a newly - purchased car and $25 and costs on a charge of having two driver's licenses in his possession.

Boston also was carrying a Social Security card and other papers which gave his last name as Sturgill. Questioned by the court, he told Judge Chertoff he formerly went by his step-father's name, but when he reached 18 he began to use his legal name, Boston.

HE ADMITTED he once had driver's licenses in the names of both Boston and Sturgill. Part of the confusion over registration of the new car resulted when he bought it under the name Sturgill and then sought to have the title transferred to himself as Boston, he said.

The defendant was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol on Route 7 Nov. 9 on the stop sign and driver's license charges. Patrolman Arthur Peters of East Liverpool cited him on the registration charge Nov. 13.

The deaf mute was identified as Leonard Mount of Struthers, cited Saturday at 11 p. m. on Jackson St. by Patrolman James Woods on charges of driving the wrong way on a one-way street and failing to wear specatacles while operating his auto.

The judge and Solicitor J. Michael Kapp communicated with Mount with sign language and by writing notes.

Mount was fined $5 and costs on the one-way street charge, but the other count was dismissed.

"I would like to know who issued this man a license when he can't see, can't talk and can't hear," the judge said. After imposing the fine, he said: "Send him on his way; I wish I could suspend his license; he is a menace!"

Carol J. Crubaugh, 18, of 1254 Oakwood Ave. was fined $15 and costs after pleading "no contest" on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. She was cited by the patrol Nov. 17 on Route 7. Edward L. Brown Jr., 18, of Midland, also charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance, was fined $15 and costs. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday on Route 7.

HERBERT A. CHASE, 38, of LaGrange, Ohio, forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited by the patrol Sunday at 7:15 a. m..

Laren Johnson of 315 E. 9th St. was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic light at Market and 5th Sts. He was cited this morning at 1:58. Joseph Gamble of RD 1 paid a fine of $15 and costs after pleading guilty to speeding 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on St. Clair Ave. He was cited at 4:47 this morning.

Vicki Desenze of Commerce St., Wellsville, was ordered to pay the costs on a charge of driving without an operator's permit. She was cited Friday by Lt. Paul Blevins. The court granted a continuance until Friday in the case of John Lyle of 728 Oak St., cited Sunday at 2:25 a. m. on Broadway on charges of driving without an operator's permit and improper auto registration.

Naomi Foley of Beaver, arrested Friday night at Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave. on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, was granted a continuance until Dec. 4 to allow her to secure counsel.

Dorothy M. McGonigal of 521 Bridge St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving an unsafe auto. She was cited Thursday at 1:15 a. m. at Broadway and E. 5th St. The court issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Frank C. Alford of LaCroft, who did not appear for a hearing on a charge of crashing a traffic light at St. Clair Ave. and 6th St. He was cited Saturday at 10:42 p. m.

After Talk With Kosygin

Gore Sees 'Rough Road' For Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who recently talked with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in Moscow, came away feeling "the road is rougher" to reapproachment.

Democrat Albert Gore reported Sunday on a European tour to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels, Soviet-occupied Czechoslovakia, and Moscow. He made the trip with Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and returned Saturday night.

Both senators are members of the Foreign Relations Committee, Gore heading its disarmament subcommittee. He said they were told at the American embassy in Moscow that they were the first American officials to see Kosygin this year.

Gore said he took no formal message to the Soviet leader, but wanted to impress on him—and thinks he succeeded—that the Soviet Invasion of Czechoslovakia last August threatens to wipe out progress made toward easing tension between the United States and Russia.

The two countries, Gore said he told the Soviet leader, have a "mutuality of interests" in avoiding a nuclear war.

Kosygin responded that they have not only a mutuality of interest but a common responsibility for world events. Gore quoted Kosygin as saying that the road toward disarmament must be negotiated in stages, perhaps beginning with an agreement not to deploy antiballistic missiles. These weapons are designed to knock an enemy's intercontinental ballistic missiles from the sky.

"I haven't changed my feeling about the need for reapproachment" Gore said. But, he added, "I come back feeling the road is rougher."

Gore said Kosygin told him it would not be possible for the two countries to negotiate if one has a significant nuclear edge over the other.

The premier's remarks appeared to be directed toward President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who asserted in a nationwide radio broadcast Oct. 24 that America must be able to negotiate with the Soviet Union "not from weakness but with the persuasiveness of respectable and evident power."

Such a philosophy, Kosygin told Gore and Pell, would mean each side would work to strengthen itself and an escalation of the arms race would result.

Gore's report on the hour-and-forty-minute conference last Tuesday was taken from a summary prepared by the American embassy, whose representatives took notes. Under the normal rules for interviews with heads of governments, no direct quotation is permitted.

Kosygin told the two senators that the Soviet Union is committed to peaceful coexistence with the West. And, said Gore, Kosygin appeared surprised when he said the invasion had had a chilling effect on steps toward disarmament.

Mrs. Onassis Troubled By Cameraman

PEAPACK, N.J. (AP) — A photographer who snapped pictures of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis as she took a Sunday stroll in the country has been charged with trespassing.

Authorities said Mrs. Onassis complained that she had been frightened by the photographer, Philippe J. C. Pouliopoulos, as she walked alone at the estate where she is staying with her husband and children.

Police said the photographer drove his car onto the grounds and hid it in a cornfield. They said he broke away when they tried to catch him and he was stopped after a chase on foot of nearly a mile.

Pouliopoulos, a New York City resident who works for Al Ain Ayeache Actualities of Paris, was freed on $25 bond for a hearing in Municipal Court, according to Police Chief Frank J. Gallo.

Mrs. Onassis was wearing a black beret, black turtleneck and slacks. Authorities said she asked that the pictures not be used. They were confiscated but returned.

Man Shoots Sons, Himself In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Garfield Heights machinist killed one of his two sons and seriously wounded the other Sunday before mortally wounding himself with a .38-caliber pistol, the suburb's police said.

Dead were Laxton Gamblin, 30, and his 18-month-old son Dejuan.

The other son, Terry, 6, was in serious condition at Marymount Hospital with a gunshot wound in the back of the neck.

Patrolmen Gerald Bandsuh and Hubert Smykowski said Terry was conscious when they arrived Sunday evening and apparently had been walking around his upstairs bedroom because there were bloodstains on the floor.

"I think I've had a bad dream," police quoted him as saying. Then, he added, "I'm hungry."

In the same hospital as Terry was his mother Brenda, who is being treated for a nervous breakdown she suffered last week.

Garfield Heights Detective Capt. William C. Horrigan said he believed the shootings occurred in the early afternoon because of the remark Terry made about being hungry and the large amount of blood the boy had lost.

The bodies of Gamblin and Dejuan were discovered by police who entered the house after a neighbor became suspicious because she did not see the two boys outside and because Gamblin did not leave for work.

The neighbor, Mrs. John Prybor, said she knocked on the door and when she received no answer, she looked through a window and saw Dejuan lying on the floor.

Police found the bodies of the dead father and son side by side. Nearby was a .38-caliber pistol with three spent shells.

ANN LANDERS

Dad Needs Doc's Advice

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I have four children — two boys and two girls — but my problem is not with them. It's their father.

He gets along fairly well with the boys (aged 8 and 11) but his relationship with his daughters worries me to death. They are 16 and 17 — darling girls, popular and busy, involved in wholesome activities — music, tennis, swimming and cheerleading. Their grades are excellent and the house is always filled with attractive teen-agers.

Their father sticks like glue when the boys come over. He quizzes them and makes insulting remarks. He has made it clear to the boys that he doesn't trust them. When the girls go out (they often double-date) he sometimes follows them in his car. (I've begged him not to but he ignores me.)

I've heard him tell friends his daughters probably never will marry because they love their daddy so much no man ever could measure up to him. The truth is the girls dislike him because he is so possessive and suspicious. What can I do about this appalling situation? — ILLINOIS.

Dear Illinois: Probably nothing, but give it a try. Suggest that your husband talk to a doctor about his unhealthy attachment to his daughters. dren while you can. But enjoy He'd get an earful.

Perhaps someone can make him see that in his attempt to hang on to "his girls" he's driving them away. Unless he alters his thinking he will alienate his daughters completely and they will close him out of their lives.

The Patsy

Dear Ann: One year ago next month, my daughter took a downtown job and asked me to babysit with her three children. I asked no pay because she confided that her husband had run up many debts that had to be paid.

This past year they bought a color TV, a $400 stereo and the family took a trip to California. (We live in Iowa.) My daughter now has beautiful clothes and she goes to the beauty shop once a week.

Yesterday I asked for wages. I was given a flat turndown. I explained that I live on my Social Security check which doesn't go very far. I'm a widow. When I pointed out that they seem to have plenty of money for luxuries, I was told, "Our luxuries are nobody's business. Enjoy your grandchildren while you can."

What should I do? — DOORMAT.

Dear Door: Do as you're told. Enjoy your grandchildren as a grandma, not as a nursemaid. Tell your daughter she'll have to hire help because you must find a job that offers money as well as enjoyment. Look at the classified ads in this newspaper and get moving, Gram.

Auto Kills Deer Who 'Jaywalks'

Another deer became a victim of traffic over the weekend.

According to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville, Susan Reede, 34, of Empire was driving her 1968 sedan south on Route 7, about a mile south of Route 213, at 9:40 p. m. Sunday when a deer, which had been standing on the divider strip, suddenly jumped in front of her auto.

The deer was killed. Only slight damage resulted to the car.

Clarkson Area Girl Injured As She Runs Into Path Of Car

A 5-year-old Clarkson area girl was taken to Salem City Hospital Sunday afternoon after she ran down an embankment into the path of a car in front of her home.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Wilma D. Crawford, of the Clarkson Rd., Rogers, ran into a car operated by Joseph J. Jackson, 61, of Rogers RD 1, at 1 p. m.

The Crawford girl was "fairly good" today with a possible skull fracture and lacerations of the right side of the forehead.

An Irondale resident and a Wellsville area woman were taken to City Hospital Saturday as the result of a two-car accident near Wellsville.

Mrs. Bertha Crews, 34, of Wellsville RD 1 was a passenger in a northbound 1960 station wagon operated by her husband, James W. Crews, 38, of the Old Irondale Rd. when a southbound 1960 station wagon operated by Elmer Hawk of Irondale RD 1 went left of center and struck the Crews' vehicle, according to the patrol.

Mrs. Crews and Hawk were taken to City Hospital.

A Salineville youth, whose car went off the right side of the road on Route 39 Saturday, was taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Robert G. Meister, 19, of 15 W. Main St. was driving a 1964 coach west on Route 39 about a half-mile east of the 10th St. Ext. at 10 p. m. when his auto went off the road and struck a pole.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Wilma D. Crawford, of the Clarkson Rd., Rogers, ran into a car operated by Joseph J. Jackson, 61, of Rogers RD 1, at 1 p. m.

The Crawford girl was "fairly good" today with a possible skull fracture and lacerations of the right side of the forehead.

An Irondale resident and a Wellsville area woman were taken to City Hospital Saturday as the result of a two-car accident near Wellsville.

Mrs. Bertha Crews, 34, of Wellsville RD 1 was a passenger in a northbound 1960 station wagon operated by her husband, James W. Crews, 38, of the Old Irondale Rd. when a southbound 1960 station wagon operated by Elmer Hawk of Irondale RD 1 went left of center and struck the Crews' vehicle, according to the patrol.

Mrs. Crews and Hawk were taken to City Hospital.

A Salineville youth, whose car went off the right side of the road on Route 39 Saturday, was taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Robert G. Meister, 19, of 15 W. Main St. was driving a 1964 coach west on Route 39 about a half-mile east of the 10th St. Ext. at 10 p. m. when his auto went off the road and struck a pole.

Miners

another blast sent tremors throughout the area early Friday.

Hope Renewed

Sending the rescue teams and the success of the drill teams in poking through the nearly 800 feet of shale and earth brought renewed hope to those who awaited word of the trapped men.

"I never felt so good in my life," said Mrs. June Heflin, whose brother, Wayne Minor, is trapped. "I know there's a real chance now."

"If any of them survived the initial explosion, there's a real good chance they're alive down there right now," said Danny Kuhn, a member of another rescue team.

All through the night Sunday seven drill crews sent diamond-hard bits chewing through the earth. The first of the three-inch drills hit its expected target: A spot in one of the passageways where officials thought the men had sought refuge.

The second of the seven broke through hours later and the sensitive microphone was moved there to determine if any signs of life could be detected.

William Claggett, a telephone company official from nearby Fairmont, strained at the earphones on the surface for the sounds the microphone relayed. He explained the water dripping was due to the drills puncturing underground streams. He emphasized that this posed no threat to any man still alive.

"It sounded like a faucet dripping," he said. "If there was anyone down there, you would hear them."

Corcoran said the rescue teams "found evidence of rock-dust bags having been blown by concussion." Rock-dust bags are used in coal mines to help minimize coal dust. Gas and coal dust have been listed as the most likely reasons for the original explosions.

City Woman Reports 'Hope' At Mannington

"There's still hope," Mrs. Ruth Smith of LaCroft said today of the atmosphere at Mannington, W. Va., where her cousin and 77 other miners remained trapped in the No. 9 Mine.

She said her father, Edgell Wilson, 48, a veteran miner, was working the night shift and preparing to enter the shaft when the explosion hit Wednesday. "He was knocked out," Mrs. Smith said.

Her father suffered a fractured arm at work at the mine three weeks ago and had been carrying tools and papers into the shaft. Otherwise, he would have been working down in the shaft with the regular crew.

Mrs. Smith and a sister, Mrs. Madeline McIntosh of 400 Beaver Ave., Midland, and their husbands returned from Mannington Sunday. Her cousin, Jerry Stoneking, 23, of Mannington is among the men missing.

3 Accidents Investigated At Wellsville

There were no injuries in three two-car accidents investigated by Wellsville police Saturday.

Helen E. Mathews of 536½ Commerce St. was halted for the traffic light at 3rd St. and Broadway when her car was struck in the rear by a 1967 sedan operated by Joseph A. Greathouse of 1623 St. George St., East Liverpool. The accident occurred at 9:30 p. m. There were no citations.

At the corner of 3rd St. and Main St., Cedric Stanway of Riverside Ave., Wellsville, failed to yield the right-of-way to an auto driven by Gary L. Rearley of Toronto and Stanway's 1964 sedan struck the Rearley auto. Stanway was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way. The accident was timed at 5:30 p. m.

In another mishap, Suzanna McElhaney of Wellsville RD 1 had halted her 1968 sedan for the stop sign at Lisbon St. and Diamond St. at 3:30 p. m. and as her auto then entered Lisbon St. it was struck in the left side by a 1954 pickup truck operated by William R. Deeley of Main Street, Salineville. Deeley was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Lisbon Retrial Starts

LISBON — Retrial of Albert Crissman of Coal Hollow Rd., Wellsville, charged with incest and statutory rape of a girl 14, began this morning before a Common Pleas Court jury.

Indicted by the April 1967 grand jury, Crissman was convicted by a jury last March 27. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard sustained a motion for a new trial filed by defense counsel Bernard Fineman of East Liverpool.

by 4 p. m. today to the office of the superintendent."

Joe Mowad, head wrestling coach, football equipment manager; Fred Zechman, head golf coach; Frank Moss, football coach; Dennis Burke, gymnastics head coach; William Eadie, East Junior football coach; Robert Wines, Westgate football coach; Don Ryals, Head Westgate football coach, and Bruce Burbick, Westgate football coach.

Classes resumed this morning at the high school, and basketball practice, halted by McConnell in reaction to some incidents involving use of athletic facilities, was to resume.

Because East Liverpool could not guarantee a team to take part in the Big Eight basketball preview Saturday night, the event was canceled.

McNea became head football coach and athletic director in 1964, succeeding Robert Hedmond. A graduate of East Cleveland High School, he received a bachelor's degree from Miami University and a master's degree from Kent.

He was an assistant football coach at Kent prior to coming here. He achieved success as a coach at Mansfield, where he resigned to become a backfield coach at Northwestern University.

McConnell, a native of Schenectady, N.Y., and a graduate of Steubenville College, coached six years at New Concord and two at Ashtabula before coming here in 1966. He succeeded Frank Chan, whose contract was not renewed by the board of education in another controversy over athletic policy.

Sim Earich of Warren, Big Eight commissioner, said today the rescheduling of the preview remains uncertain. If East Liverpool could field a team, the event might be held Tuesday night here, he said. But by late this morning he had not received formal confirmation of such plans.

THE COACHING contracts of McNea and McConnell have a year to go.

Supt. Blair said the decision by McConnell and the agreement for his return and that of the four assistants was reached Saturday.

The situation and the statement issued by Blair was discussed at a 2-hour meeting Sunday afternoon attended by four board members.

Asked about the next meeting of the athletic board, Supt. Blair said no meeting is scheduled as of now.

Blair said he was unaware of the resignation statement from McNea and the other coaches until advised this morning by newsmen.

HE SAID he felt the statement to be "unethical" in that the statement was not presened through administrative channels.

Samuel W. Brown, board president, said he was concerned about the situation. Asked specifically if he and the board were satisfied with the coaching and teaching conduct of McConnell and McNea, Brown said he was "personally unhappy" with apparent happenings which have come to light.

To Survive A Severe Winter

Trees, Shrubs Need Protection

Trees and shrubs around your house need special protection if they are to survive a severe winter.

Aside from the sentiment involved, they represent real investment and should be protected from damage.

Materials needed are not difficult to obtain and, many are right at hand.

Rope, wire, burlap, hardware cloth, stakes, piles of leaves, even sawdust are among the materials you will find useful.

You will not need all of them, perhaps not many of them at all, and it is likely that you will find ways to improvise.

—:—

KNOW what you are trying to prevent and you will be able to figure out the best ways to proceed.

At the ground level, frost-heaving will cause roots, near the surface to be exposed. The subsequent exposure can be killing.

A little higher up, starving rodents will chew off the bark, nibble on buds on the ends of branches.

Over-all wind damage can result due not only to the severity but the drying effect as well.

On the protected side of the house the plant can suffer from sunburn even though it is winter. The sun may start the sap rising and some real cold night the new sap will expand when it freezes, causing plant cells to burst.

Before doing anything else, make certain that plants are well - watered. Keep watering until the ground starts to freeze.

Keep the earth moist in spite of freezing temperatures by mulching which provides insulation. Leaves make an excellent mulch. Chop them first with your lawn mower so that they don't mat down too heavily.

—:—

SAWDUST, wood shavings, grass clippings, chopped corn cobs, peat moss — all make good mulching materials. Mix them if you don't have enough of one. Pile several inches deep and two or three feet out from the trunk.

To prevent small, hungry animals from gnawing on tender trees and shrubs, use wire screen (the coarse hardware cloth variety) as a shield.

Make a cylinder of the material, keeping it several inches away from the trunk. Bury the lower end several inches into the ground so that animals cannot burrow under it.

When planning the height, try to remember how high snow will drift in your area. A small animal can sit on top of drifts.

Young trees can be wrapped in burlap part way up the trunk, both as protection against animals and against wind damage.

MAKE a windbreak (which will also keep out some of the sun) out of lengths of snow fence or pieces of burlap tacked to posts driven into the ground. This also will protect the plants against drifting snow.

The multiple stems of some trees, such as Chinese arborvitae and some junipers, should be tied together with soft string or cloth so that snow will not spread them apart. Wide-spreading evergreens (yews and spruce) should be propped up with scrap lumber in the event of a heavy snow. Shake off excess snow as soon as possible.

Newly - planted trees should be heavily watered, mulched, staked and held in place with a loop of wire. Cover the wire with a piece of hose to protect the tree.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Adam's apple is the popular name given to the lump in the front of the throat, more prominent in men than in women, caused by the thyroid cartilage of the larnyx or voice box. The term is believed to have arisen from the belief that a piece of the forbidden apple which caused Adam's fall stuck in his throat when he tried to swallow it.

It's Nice To Have A Man; But, If Not, Read Below

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many career girls and widows are faced with keeping up a house or apartment even though there isn't a man around to do necessary jobs.

Labor costs are high and there is a great temptation to do many heavy tasks and complicated ones rather than summon a carpenter or plumber.

Health and safety are involved, and it may be far wiser to hire a man to hang curtain rods than to invite disaster.

There are some projects that women can do on their own to cut expense.

INSTALLING shelves: One woman was quoted $40 plus the cost of lumber when she asked for an estimate for some pantry shelves. She bought prefinished shelves and installed them on brackets available for the purpose, and the saving was worthwhile.

One can also buy raw lumber and refinish it, sand and wax or paint. If one wants a horseshoe arrangement of shelves in a closet, the job requires a more experienced hand, but straight shelves can be done very well by an amateur.

The most important aspect of installing shelves on brackets is to make sure the shelves are level. The wall should be marked carefully before the brackets are installed.

PAINTING: You can brush paint or spray paint without climbing if the ceiling is low and you are tall or you can roller paint using a roller with a long handle.

Plumbing. There are a few things you can do to correct minor problems, but one plumber advises that homemakers shouldn't even change washers. Sometimes, the entire faucet must be replaced because of their ineptitude, he says.

If a faucet nozzle is leaking, you can tape it with heavy black tape until a plumber is available, but don't try to replace a faucet fixture. Plumbers often have difficulties removing faucets if the unit is more than 10 years old.

If the flow of water becomes slow, you might check the aerator on your faucet, if you have one. Remove it carefully and clean it. You may be amazed at the gunk that an aerator collects. It should be cleaned often.

—:—

WASHING machine. Before calling a repair man check these points (A) Is the water turned on? (B) Is the power on? (C) Is the lint trap clean?

A repair man points out that some three of 10 calls he makes are duds, problems that could have been solved by the woman, but he must charge his service fee.

Vacuum cleaners that lose suction can be a big problem. The tiniest thing may stick in a hose leaving the machine powerless, and when this happens often a woman may think she needs a new cleaner.

Actually, she may just need a new hose. Some vacuum hoses disintegrate inside and catch wads of dirt so that the passage becomes blocked. There are hoses that can adapt to any machine and have long-time guarantees that they will not ravel inside.

If the old hose looks bedraggled, remove it and get an opinion from someone before you decide that the vacuum motor is conking out.

Proper Gadgets Will Ease Tasks For Handyman

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

One of the toughest jobs in the world is to drive a large screw into hard or stringy wood.

Even though the workman may first drill a small hole and soap the threads of the screw, there are many times when his wrist simply will not be strong enough to sink the screw completely into the surface of the wood.

The correct manner in which to overcome this difficulty is to use a screwdriver bit in his brace. The great leverage secured by this combination makes the driving of any size of screw comparatively easy.

Another item which often is overlooked by the amateur home repairman is the nail-set. This small tool is always used by a good mechanic and enables him to sink the head of the nail below the surface being worked upon without ending up with a series of hammerhead marks around the nail. It is also used as a center - punch, to make a small depression where it is desired to start a drilling or boring operation in a surface.

Still another useful idea is the small block which should be set on any surface from which nails are being drawn out. Unless this block or equivalent is used, the striking end of the ordinary hammer will mar any wood as the energy is applied to pull out a nail. A further benefit in using a drawing block is that it increases the strength of the pull and makes the extraction far easier.

In these days, with the highly - developed tools and techniques, work has been made far easier for the amateur home mechanic. No matter what type of job he may attempt, he will find useful tools and hundreds of gadgets to assist him.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Traffic experts want Los Angeles motorists to quit crowding the freeways and use the 20,000 miles of surface streets.

A test of time required to travel 11.7 miles from west Los Angeles to the downtown Civic Center at a rush hour showed: The drive on surface streets took 30 minutes compared to 48 minutes by freeway and 77 minutes by bus.

'Different' Retirement Home Opens Doors To A New Life

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

People want their retirement home to be different from the one they've enjoyed in the past, says interior designer Frances Lee Kennedy, popular in society circles in New York and Palm Beach.

It's just as simple as this, she says: at long last the retired folk are doing "their thing." They want the new shelter to open doors to a whole new way of life.

They want recreation, relaxation and a dream house in a sens. They don't want it so minimum - maintenance that it looks stark. On the other hand, they don't want it so gussied up that it looks corny.

SOME builders are taking such ideas into consideration, she says, particularly in newer cooperative apartments that are going up in resort areas. Mrs. Kennedy, a member of the American Institute of Interior Designers, has been decorating some apartments in a new 32-apartment building at Riviera Beach, Fla.

"For example, one big complaint is that bathroom fixtures could be improved. The idea of letting a person choose bathroom fixtures and doors is a step in the right direction, so that one doesn't have to live with dreary ideas or useless ones.

Two wash basins may make a bathroom look important, but who needs it, say some people. How often do two people get together for a hand - washing duet. One pretty hand - painted wash basin is sufficient for most people. The additional space may be made more useful as a table.

Mrs. Kennedy often has had to rip out plumbing that some builder chose, and put in something more to a client's taste, so the trend to client - choice in the beginning saves double expense, builder's and occupant's.

DOORS can provide a jollier appearance too, she says, with cane or other materials. She also uses cane on moldings.

"Decorating is completely different in warm climates, but good furniture should be brought along as it can be used with a sunnier background and brighter accessories.

"When people get to Florida, they all seem to want pretty much the same thing — chintz and bamboo. Later, they are sorry that they discarded antiques or other good furniture and they buy additional furniture to give their home a more solid look."

When Mrs. Kennedy decided to use pale chartreuse on her own living room walls in Florida, her friends gasped. But the over-all effect has made a tremendous hit with everyone.

She uses off - white draperies and sofas, chairs in off - white with little gold flowers and a few pieces of French furniture. She took the chartreuse, gold and the turquoise color used on the dining room chairs from colors in her Aubusson rug and it set the color scheme for the apartment. She uses bamboo paper on the wall of one bathroom, bordering it with turquoise flower border. Other accessories are turquoise.

"Beads are wonderful hangings in sunnier climates," she says. "Even though they are feminine looking, men live with them without complaining."

Mrs. Kennedy is widely known for her artful use of color and architectural embellishments. She has decorated many apartments of famous people. Four years ago, she decorated the Richard Nixon apartment on Fifth Ave.

To Survive A Severe Winter

Trees, Shrubs Need Protection

Trees and shrubs around your house need special protection if they are to survive a severe winter.

Aside from the sentiment involved, they represent real investment and should be protected from damage.

Materials needed are not difficult to obtain and, many are right at hand.

Rope, wire, burlap, hardware cloth, stakes, piles of leaves, even sawdust are among the materials you will find useful. You will not need all of them, perhaps not many of them at all, and it is likely that you will find ways to improvise.

—:—

KNOW what you are trying to prevent and you will be able to figure out the best ways to proceed.

At the ground level, frost-heaving will cause roots, near the surface to be exposed. The subsequent exposure can be killing.

A little higher up, starving rodents will chew off the bark, nibble on buds on the ends of branches.

Over-all wind damage can result due not only to the severity but the drying effect as well.

On the protected side of the house the plant can suffer from sunburn even though it is winter. The sun may start the sap rising and some real cold night the new sap will expand when it freezes, causing plant cells to burst.

Before doing anything else, make certain that plants are well - watered. Keep watering until the ground starts to freeze.

Keep the earth moist in spite of freezing temperatures by mulching which provides insulation. Leaves make an excellent mulch. Chop them first with your lawn mower so that they don't mat down too heavily.

—:—

SAWDUST, wood shavings, grass clippings, chopped corn cobs, peat moss — all make good mulching materials. Mix them if you don't have enough of one. Pile several inches deep and two or three feet out from the trunk.

To prevent small, hungry animals from gnawing on tender trees and shrubs, use wire screen (the coarse hardware cloth variety) as a shield.

Make a cylinder of the material, keeping it several inches away from the trunk. Bury the lower end several inches into the ground so that animals cannot burrow under it.

When planning the height, try to remember how high snow will drift in your area. A small animal can sit on top of drifts.

Young trees can be wrapped in burlap part way up the trunk, both as protection against animals and against wind damage.

MAKE a windbreak (which will also keep out some of the sun) out of lengths of snow fence or pieces of burlap tacked to posts driven into the ground. This also will protect the plants against drifting snow.

The multiple stems of some trees, such as Chinese arborvitae and some junipers, should be tied together with soft string or cloth so that snow will not spread them apart. Wide-spreading evergreens (yews and spruce) should be propped up with scrap lumber in the event of a heavy snow. Shake off excess snow as soon as possible.

Newly - planted trees should be heavily watered, mulched, staked and held in place with a loop of wire. Cover the wire with a piece of hose to protect the tree.

It's Nice To Have A Man; But, If Not, Read Below

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many career girls and widows are faced with keeping up a house or apartment even though there isn't a man around to do necessary jobs.

Labor costs are high and there is a great temptation to do many heavy tasks and complicated ones rather than summon a carpenter or plumber.

Health and safety are involved, and it may be far wiser to hire a man to hang curtain rods than to invite disaster.

There are some projects that women can do on their own to cut expense.

INSTALLING shelves: One woman was quoted $40 plus the cost of lumber when she asked for an estimate for some pantry shelves. She bought prefinished shelves and installed them on brackets available for the purpose, and the saving was worthwhile.

One can also buy raw lumber and refinish it, sand and wax or paint. If one wants a horseshoe arrangement of shelves in a closet, the job requires a more experienced hand, but straight shelves can be done very well by an amateur.

The most important aspect of installing shelves on brackets is to make sure the shelves are level. The wall should be marked carefully before the brackets are installed.

PAINTING: You can brush paint or spray paint without climbing if the ceiling is low and you are tall or you can roller paint using a roller with a long handle.

Plumbing. There are a few things you can do to correct minor problems, but one plumber advises that homemakers shouldn't even change washers. Sometimes, the entire faucet must be replaced because of their ineptitude, he says.

If a faucet nozzle is leaking, you can tape it with heavy black tape until a plumber is available, but don't try to replace a faucet fixture. Plumbers often have difficulties removing faucets if the unit is more than 10 years old.

If the flow of water becomes slow, you might check the aerator on your faucet, if you have one. Remove it carefully and clean it. You may be amazed at the gunk that an aerator collects. It should be cleaned often.

—:—

WASHING machine. Before calling a repair man check these points (A) Is the water turned on? (B) Is the power on? (C) Is the lint trap clean?

A repair man points out that some three of 10 calls he makes are duds, problems that could have been solved by the woman, but he must charge his service fee.

Vacuum cleaners that lose suction can be a big problem. The tiniest thing may stick in a hose leaving the machine powerless, and when this happens often a woman may think she needs a new cleaner.

Actually, she may just need a new hose. Some vacuum hoses disintegrate inside and catch wads of dirt so that the passage becomes blocked. There are hoses that can adapt to any machine and have long-time guarantees that they will not ravel inside.

If the old hose looks bedraggled, remove it and get an opinion from someone before you decide that the vacuum motor is conking out.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Adam's apple is the popular name given to the lump in the front of the throat, more prominent in men than in women, caused by the thyroid cartilage of the larnyx or voice box. The term is believed to have arisen from the belief that a piece of the forbidden apple which caused Adam's fall stuck in his throat when he tried to swallow it.

Dixonville Vikings Honored At Banquet Attended By 240

More than 240 attended Friday night's banquet for the Dixonville Vikings, National Division champions of the Bill Booth Football Little League.

Don Ryals, head coach of Westgate Junior High, was guest speaker for the event held at the Elks Lodge.

Ryals, a graduate of Austintown Fitch High School and Ohio Wesleyan University, where he starred in track and football, advised the young gridders "to have a dream that presents a challenge."

"You must have confidence to make good in this dream," he emphasized. "Take care of yourself, strive to be perfect and adopt a good mental attitude."

Touching on the local high school controversy, Ryals declared "there must be a time of understanding on the part of all because it is for these children here tonight that we all are working."

He also advised the youngsters not to forget the vital spiritual phase of their lives.

Frank Hilliard, head coach of the Vikings, introduced Ryals.

Mrs. Barbara Thompson was chairman of the banquet committee.

Hilliard, assisted by John Bell, presented trophies to the team. Ben Weber, assisted by Dick Thompson, Lorin Howard and Bob Erwin, presented a trophy to the 1968 Pee Wee champs.

On the way to the Plaza, Nixon patronized two shoeshine boys catering to Sunday strollers—Francis Harward, 11, and Dannie Thornton, 9, each ministered to a separate shoe and each collected a dollar for his work.

Nixon, referring to Francis, told newsmen:

"He just told me business isn't too good. This'll give him a little advertising."

The President-elect didn't have cash in his pocket to pay the boys, so David Eisenhower made him a small loan.

Crowds enveloped the Nixon group en route to and from the Plaza, occasionally separating one or more members from the other. The President-elect, in good spirits, shook multiple hands and repeatedly accepted congratulatory good wishes.

Nixon apparently will spend most, if not all, of this holiday week in New York. Except for Thanksgiving Day, he will hold a succession of meetings with GOP chieftains in preparation for the series of Cabinet announcements that his spokesmen have said will be made after Dec. 5.

Besides talking to visitors about possible appointments to administration posts, Nixon will discuss programs he will present to the Democratic-controlled Congress come late January and February.

London Trade Slow

Dealings in London were slow initially. The franc rose slightly, but dealers said no trend had been established. The German mark opened at its ceiling.

Putting teeth into the restrictions promised by De Gaulle, the French official journal announced that Frenchmen can buy only $100 worth of foreign currency at the official rate for pleasure trips abroad and also take along a maximum of 200 francs—$40— in French money.

French businessmen traveling abroad will be given an allowance of $40 a day, with a maximum total of $400. For business or tourist trips of less than 24 hours, the allowance is $10.

Another decree, effective at midnight Sunday forbad residents of France to make any foreign exchange deals without going through an official agency. The measure stopped the free convertibility of the franc and is expected to halt the legal flight of French money to Germany and Switzerland.

President Johnson and West German Finance Minister Franz-Josef Strauss publicly gave support to the French president. But money men in other European capitals doubted that De Gaulle's measures were enough to restore confidence in his currency.

Financial analysts in London feared more wholesale selling of the franc when markets reopen today would trigger a crisis of confidence in the British pound and the dollar that would undermine the stability of the non-Communist world's monetary system.

DeGaulle's Announcement

De Gaulle announced his austerity program in an eight-minute radio speech Sunday night, barely 24 hours after stunning the Western world with his announcement that the value of the franc would remain at 20.1045 cents.

In his radio speech he announced government spending would be cut $900 million in addition to the $400 million cut announced last week, exchange controls would be reimposed in an attempt to stop the flight of capital out of France, a hold-fast order for prices and wages would be issued, the tax collecting system would be made tougher, and law and order would be maintained.

Details are to be announced in the official journal and by Premier Maurice Couve de Murville on Tuesday before the National Assembly.

The 78-year-old president condemned the French speculators whose huge purchases of West German marks "put their interest ahead of the public interest." But he placed most of the blame for the crisis ont he near revolution by students and workers that shook the nation last May and June. De Gaulle promised to end "all agitation and exhibition, all tumult and marches."

The Communist party newspaper L'Humanite said in its headline: "De Gaulle Capitualates to the Speculators. He Accuses the Workers of Being Responsible for the Crisis."

De Gaulle also went around again on one of his favorite themes—the idea of a worldwide financial readjustment with a return to the gold standard.

"We are finally seeing the day," he said, "when the whole world will agree to establish an impartial and reasonable monetary system putting each country—when it needs it—in a place protected from sudden and absurd speculative movements."

De Gaulle acknowledged that France was already getting its share of protection from "the more prosperous nations" which in Bonn last week pledged a $2-billion credit to bolster the franc. He said this "can be augmented and will be added to our reserves."

De Gaulle's speech was coupled with a cordial exchange of messages with President Johnson. In a cable from Washington, Johnson said: "I know the American people will wish me to tell you of the common hope that your course of action will be successful and that we are ready to cooperate in any way we can to achieve your objective, consistent with our national purpose."

De Gaulle thanked Johnson for his "very prompt and friendly message." But French officials acknowledged that De Gaulle's dream of return to the gold standard would mean thus devaluation of the dollar and an end to its role as a reserve currency.

Strauss said in a television interview in Bonn that he admired De Gaulle's courage. He said the French, by refusing to devalue, "have taken the tougher course but we will try to help them as much as possible."

London currency dealers expressed doubt that the French foreign exchange controls and other austerity measures would be effective.

"This is the expected package," one dealer said. "Britain has tried it several times and it doesn't work. It could only be successful if it restored confidence, but everyone knows that the franc is overvalued and the West German mark undervalued. Until that is sorted out, speculators will be around."

British newspapers viewed the crisis as the product of a tug-of-war for supremacy in Europe between De Gaulle and the West German government, which refused to revalue the mark upward.

Dixonville Vikings Honored At Banquet Attended By 240

More than 240 attended Friday night's banquet for the Dixonville Vikings, National Division champions of the Bill Booth Football Little League.

Don Ryals, head coach of Westgate Junior High, was guest speaker for the event held at the Elks Lodge.

Ryals, a graduate of Austintown Fitch High School and Ohio Wesleyan University, where he starred in track and football, advised the young gridders "to have a dream that presents a challenge."

"You must have confidence to make good in this dream," he emphasized. "Take care of yourself, strive to be perfect and adopt a good mental attitude."

Touching on the local high school controversy, Ryals declared "there must be a time of understanding on the part of all because it is for these children here tonight that we all are working."

He also advised the youngsters not to forget the vital spiritual phase of their lives.

Frank Hilliard, head coach of the Vikings, introduced Ryals.

Mrs. Barbara Thompson was chairman of the banquet committee.

Hilliard, assisted by John Bell, presented trophies to the team. Ben Weber, assisted by Dick Thompson, Lorin Howard and Bob Erwin, presented a trophy to the 1968 Pee Wee champs.

The boys presented the coaches with a trophy.

Mrs. Hilliard thanked all "for the success of the past season" and presented gifts to the Booster officers and the coaches.

Don Cook and Ed Jarrett won prizes.

John Parsons gave the invocation.

Colts, Rams, Cowboys Packers Win Key NFL Games

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

"The crowd at Swarthmore's Clothier Field will be about 83,000 less than the mob at Columbus, Ohio, and there will be more people who can't get into Harvard Stadium than those who want to go to Clothier Field, but don't tell people from Haverford and Swarthmore colleges where THE GAME is today," said the Philadelphia Inquirer Saturday.

And when THE GAME was over, people from Haverford were just as happy as those rooting for Ohio State and Harvard, as Haverford, which had lost six previous starts, all by at least 32-13, upset Swarthmore 17-6. The day was made doubly sweet for Haverford fans by a 1-0 win in the soccer game in the morning.

The Fords trailed 6-0 at halftime, but got rolling after the president of the college, John Coleman, surprised the 1,000 or so Haverford fans by leading a cheer. The fans, about equally split between long-haired but enthusiastic students and cynical but hopeful alumni, cheered wildly as Haverford pushed over two TDs and then iced the game with a late field goal by Stanley Murphy. Murphy started his career as a left-handed quarterback, injured his arm, became a manager, and last summer at home in Ala. worked out under Bear Bryant as a place kicker. The field goal was the first ever attempted by Murphy and possibly the first in the history of the school.

ONE PERSON in the crowd was listening to the Ohio State-Michigan game on a portable radio, but he turned out to be an OSU alumnus who was a neighbor of Haverford coach Dana Swan. One of the great things about a small college is the intimate relationship of administration and coaches with the student body and alumni. I don't know what Woody Hayes did Saturday night, but I doubt if he spent most of the evening chatting in his kitchen with three alumni, two of whom he had never met before, as Swan did. The talk was less about football than about Haverford college life in general.

Swan is a Swarthmore graduate, but there is no mistaking where his sympathies lie now. He was obviously very pleased to beat his former coach, "Uncle Lew" Elverson. He noted that his young daughters were happy on Saturday night for the first time all season.

Swan was amazed to discover that I was a sportswriter. "A Haverford graduate writing sports is about as rare as a Swarthmore graduate coaching football" he said. (About 75 per cent of Haverford and Swarthmore graduates go to graduate school and most end up as doctors, lawyers or professors.) Most Haverford-Swarthmore types are casual about athletics, but Swan is very intense, and he thinks he is getting the student body behind him. With the president of the college leading cheers, how can he lose? And with two wins over Swarthmore in two years on the job. Swan is getting most of the alumni behind him, too.

PHILADELPHIA is called "The City of Brotherly Love," but in sports circles, at least, this is a misnomer. There are no more vituperative fans this side of a South American soccer mob. Many sports figures have felt the lash of booing, including Richie Allen, but the campaign against Philadelphia Eagle coach Joe Kuharich is vicious, even by Philadelphia standards. Everyone is a member of the "Joe Must Go" club, with Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman perhaps the latest recruits. A letter in one paper asked if a movie showing in South Jersey, "The Night of the Living Dead," was about the Eagles. It couldn't be about Kuharich, the letter stated, because he is among the "dead dead".

Another story about Kuharich is that he was called by an official during a game for coaching from the sidelines. The official stepped off a five-yard penalty. "That should be 15 yards!" yelled Kuharich. "The way you coach, its only five," replied the official.

The New York Jets might have had their troubles against Heidi, but it was a different story against Hadl.

The Jets, blacked out a week ago in the last minute when NBC replaced them with Heidi and Oakland followed with two game-winning touchdowns, returned to the air Sunday with a new ending, a 37-15 victory over the San Diego Chargers in the American Football League.

The tale was told by hero Joe Namath, who completed 17 of 31 passes for 337 yards and two New York touchdowns, and by goat, John Hadl, who managed only 6 for 19 for 35 yards and three interceptions in the first half for San Dieg.

"This is the worst football game I've ever played in my life," muttered a disguested Hadl, whose Chargers dropped to third place behind Oakland and Kansas City in the Western Division.

"I know how John feels," said Namath, whose Jets clinched at least a tie for the Eastern Division title. "I've been there before."

Oakland gained a tie at 9-2 by moving easily past Cincinnati 34-0 while Kansas City was idle. San Diego is 8-3.

In other games Denver beat Buffalo 34-32 in a furious finish and Miami clouted Boston 34-10.

The Jets, three games ahead of idle Houston with three to play, didn't even need the last minute, getting right into the plot as Namath and Don Maynard teamed for an 87-yard scoring play and Jim Turner kicked a field goal for a 10-0 first period lead. Turner's kick was his 29 of the season, a pro football record, to which he added two more field goals before the story ended.

By halftime it was 27-7 with San Diego only able to break through on Speedy Duncan's AFL-record 95-yard punt return. It wasn't until the score had reached 37-7 that Hadl hit on a touchdown pass and two-point conversion. By then Maynard had caught six passes for 166 yards and George Sauer, the league's leading receiver, five for 124 yards, putting both over the 1,000 yard mark.

Oakland, which lost the last six television seconds to a station break this week, had things well in hand by then, as NBC explained. Daryle Lamonica, who hit 24 of 32 passes for 368 yards, clicked for one touchdown and set up two others, while replacement George Blanda set up another and kicked two field goals.

Denver, after blowing a nine-point lead in the last two minutes, came back from a 32-31 deficit on Bob Howfield's 12-yard field goal with 11 seconds left.

Buffalo had turned a blocked punt and a fumble into 10 points with 26 seconds remaining, but then tried an onside kickoff that Denver covered. Marlin Briscoe, who threw for four touchdowns, then hit Floyd Little for 59 yards to the Buffalo 10, setting up Howfield's kick.

Bob Griese made things much easier for Miami with three touchdown passes, two to Karl Noonan, after the Dolphins had fallen behind 10-0. Dick Anderson, who intercepted an earlier pass, wrapped up the victory with a 95-yard interception return for a 27-10 lead.

Bullets Regain Lead In NBA East Race

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Bullets had a fine weekend, thank you. But then their whole season has been wonderful.

After adding two more victories to an already surprising won-loss record, the Bullets retook first place from Boston in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

Baltimore's 15th victory in 20 games was a 118-111 decision at Atlanta Sunday night with backcourt men Earl Monroe and Kevin Loughery teaming for 54 points as the Bullets increased their lead to one game over the idle Celtics.

Los Angeles increased its lead in the West despite Wilt Chamberlain's cold night by beating visiting Chicago 103-100 on Elgin Baylor's 35 points while host San Diego outlasted Philadelphia 135-128 in overtime and Seattle blasted Milwaukee 141-120 at Seattle.

Baltimore, which nipped Detroit 128-127 Saturday night while Boston was losing to New York 111-100, grabbed a 14-point halftime lead and while the Hawks pulled within one several times, they never could catch up.

Monroe finished with 28 points and Loughery 26. Zelmo Beaty had 31 for the Hawks.

While Chamberlain managed only one field goal and 4 of 14 free throws, Baylor erupted for 18 points in the third period when the Lakers took a 91-71 lead. Chicago closed in the final period, but the Lakers held on to increase their lead to four games over idle San Francisco.

Browns Clip Eagles 47-13

Nobody seems to be immune to the crippled quarterback epidemic sweeping the National Football League this year. But three clubs are getting maximum protection from the first aid firm of Morrall, Morton and Bratkowski.

Morrall, who stepped into Johnny Unitas' pass pocket at the outset of the season when the Baltimore ace came up with a sore pitching arm, helped the Colts stampede the Minnesota Vikings 21-9 Sunday for their 10th victory in 11 starts.

Morton, filling in for ailing Dallas star Don Meredith, guided the Cowboys to a 34-3 romp over the injury-riddled Chicago Bears. Bratkowski, working in relief of sore-ribbed Bart Starr, led the Green Bay Packers past Washington 27-7 and into title led the Green ay Packers past Washington 27-7 and into title contention.

The Colts remained one-half game ahead of the Los Angeles Rams, who nipped New York 24-21 on Bruce Gosset's field goal with four seconds to play, in the Coastal Division race. Dallas, 9-3, increased its Capitol lead over the second place Giants to two games, with three to play. And Green Bay, 5-5-1, climbed within one-half game of first place Minnesota in the Central scramble.

Bill Nelsen, another one-time backup quarterback, kept Cleveland's Century pace-setters rolling, teaming with running back Leroy Kelly to engineer a 47-13 rout of the winless Philadelphia Eagles.

St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 17-12 to stay 1½ games behind the Browns; San Francisco drubbed Pittsburgh 45-28 and New Orleans fought Detroit to a 20-20 standoff.

Morrall, a 34-year-old NFL journeyman traded to the Colts by New York just before the start of the season, fired two touchdown passes. . . his 21st and 22nd of the year. . . as Baltimore soared to a 21-3 halftime lead over the Vikings. He hit on 13 of 16 passes for 225 yards in the first 30 minutes.

Minnesota's strong defensive unit stiffened after intermission, but the Colt defenders, who had shut out two of their three previous opponents, protected the margin. The Vikings' points came on three field goals by Fred Cox.

With Meredith nursing a torn knee ligament, Morton and the Dallas defense combined to shackle the Bears. The 25-year-old quarterback, understudy to Meredith for four years, completed 15 of 32 passes for 240 yards and one score . . . a 15-yard strike to Bob Hayes.

The Bears, who had lost halfback Gale Sayers and quarterback Virgil Carters for the season,, were unable to generate an attack behind Jack Concannon, calling signals again after being sidelined with injuries. The game was halted 40 seconds from the finish after two fist-swinging melees broke out.

Bratkowski, 37, was on target with his first eight passes and wound up 18 for 24 as the Packers won handily without Starr, held out because of severely bruised ribs. Bratkowski set up two first half touchdowns before breaking open the game with a 47-yard scoring toss to Donny Anderson in the third quarter.

Nelsen flipped one touchdown pass and Ryan threw another as the Browns, 8-3, handed Philadelphia its 11th setback in as many starts. Kelly scored twice, passed for another touchdown ground, pushing his season tital over the 1,000-yard mark.

Gossett, who had missed three earlier field goal attempts, booted the winning three-pointer for the Rams from 36 yards out, capping a Los Angeles rally that wiped out the Giants' 14-0 halftime advantage. Fran Tarkenton fired two scoring passes to Aaron Thomas and a third to Tucker Frederickson.

The Cardinals held off a late Atlanta bid after quarterback Jim Hart's 30-yard TD pass to Willis Crenshaw and one-yard scoring plunge gave them a 17-3 lead. The St. Louis defensive line tossed Falcons passer Bob Berry 11 times for losses . . . one short of the NFL single-game record.

John Brodie sizzled for San Francisco as the 49ers steamed to a 35-14 halftime lead, hitting on 12 of 15 passes for 207 yards and two scores before the break. Pittsburgh's Dick Shiner, intercepted five times by the 49ers secondary, threw two touchdown passes in the last quarter to close the gap.

Wayne Walker's second field goal matched a three-pointer by New Orleans' Charlie Durkee in the final period and gave Detroit a tie with the Saints. Bill Munson flipped a pair of scoring passes for the Lions, winless in their last six games.

Reds Get Merritt For Cardenas

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have acquired a badly needed left-handed starting pitcher—Jim Merritt of Minnesota — but they had to trade veteran shortstop Leo Cardenas.

"With the addition of Merritt, we now feel we definitely have the ingredients for a solid pennant contender," Bob Howsam, Cincinnati executive vice president and general manager, said of Saturday's deal.

Merritt, 24, who posted a 12-16 record for the Twins last season with a 3.25 earned run average, joins Gerry Arrigo as the Reds' only other experienced southpaw hurler.

Merritt struck out 181 and walked 52 in 181 innings and his 11 complete games ranked second highest of the Twins' staff.

In 1967, he registered a 13-7 mark with a 2.53 ERA.

Cardenas, 29, played nine seasons for Cincinnati and hit .235 last year.

A three-time selection on the National League All-Star team from 1964 through 1966, Cardenas slammed 20 homers and knocked in 81 runs in 1966. His top batting average was .294 in 1962.

Colts, Rams, Cowboys Packers Win Key NFL Games

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE

"The crowd at Swarthmore's Clothier Field will be about 83,000 less than the mob at Columbus, Ohio, and there will be more people who can't get into Harvard Stadium than those who want to go to Clothier Field, but don't tell people from Haverford and Swarthmore colleges where THE GAME is today," said the Philadelphia Inquirer Saturday.

And when THE GAME was over, people from Haverford were just as happy as those rooting for Ohio State and Harvard, as Haverford, which had lost six previous starts, all by at least 32-13, upset Swarthmore 17-6. The day was made doubly sweet for Haverford fans by a 1-0 win in the soccer game in the morning.

The Fords trailed 6-0 at halftime, but got rolling after the president of the college, John Coleman, surprised the 1,000 or so Haverford fans by leading a cheer. The fans, about equally split between long-haired but enthusiastic students and cynical but hopeful alumni, cheered wildly as Haverford pushed over two TDs and then iced the game with a late field goal by Stanley Murphy. Murphy started his career as a left-handed quarterback, injured his arm, became a manager, and last summer at home in Ala. worked out under Bear Bryant as a place kicker. The field goal was the first ever attempted by Murphy and possibly the first in the history of the school.

ONE PERSON in the crowd was listening to the Ohio State-Michigan game on a portable radio, but he turned out to be an OSU alumnus who was a neighbor of Haverford coach Dana Swan. One of the great things about a small college is the intimate relationship of administration and coaches with the student body and alumni. I don't know what Woody Hayes did Saturday night, but I doubt if he spent most of the evening chatting in his kitchen with three alumni, two of whom he had never met before, as Swan did. The talk was less about football than about Haverford college life in general.

Swan is a Swarthmore graduate, but there is no mistaking where his sympathies lie now. He was obviously very pleased to beat his former coach, "Uncle Lew" Elverson. He noted that his young daughters were happy on Saturday night for the first time all season.

Swan was amazed to discover that I was a sportswriter. "A Haverford graduate writing sports is about as rare as a Swarthmore graduate coaching football" he said. (About 75 per cent of Haverford and Swarthmore graduates go to graduate school and most end up as doctors, lawyers or professors.) Most Haverford-Swarthmore types are casual about athletics, but Swan is very intense, and he thinks he is getting the student body behind him. With the president of the college leading cheers, how can he lose? And with two wins over Swarthmore in two years on the job. Swan is getting most of the alumni behind him, too.

PHILADELPHIA is called "The City of Brotherly Love," but in sports circles, at least, this is a misnomer. There are no more vituperative fans this side of a South American soccer mob. Many sports figures have felt the lash of booing, including Richie Allen, but the campaign against Philadelphia Eagle coach Joe Kuharich is vicious, even by Philadelphia standards. Everyone is a member of the "Joe Must Go" club, with Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman perhaps the latest recruits. A letter in one paper asked if a movie showing in South Jersey, "The Night of the Living Dead," was about the Eagles. It couldn't be about Kuharich, the letter stated, because he is among the "dead dead".

Another story about Kuharich is that he was called by an official during a game for coaching from the sidelines. The official stepped off a five-yard penalty. "That should be 15 yards!" yelled Kuharich. "The way you coach, its only five," replied the official.

Jets Thump Chargers, Clinch AFL East Tie

Bob Griese made things much easier for Miami with three touchdown passes, two to Karl Noonan, after the Dolphins had fallen behind 10-0. Dick Anderson, who intercepted an earlier pass, wrapped up the victory with a 95-yard interception return for a 27-10 lead.

Bullets Regain Lead In NBA East Race

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Bullets had a fine weekend, thank you. But then their whole season has been wonderful.

After adding two more victories to an already surprising won-loss record, the Bullets retook first place from Boston in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

Baltimore's 15th victory in 20 games was a 118-111 decision at Atlanta Sunday night with backcourt men Earl Monroe and Kevin Loughery teaming for 54 points as the Bullets increased their lead to one game over the idle Celtics.

Los Angeles increased its lead in the West despite Wilt Chamberlain's cold night by beating visiting Chicago 103-100 on Elgin Baylor's 35 points while host San Diego outlasted Philadelphia 135-128 in overtime and Seattle blasted Milwaukee 141-120 at Seattle.

Baltimore, which nipped Detroit 128-127 Saturday night while Boston was losing to New York 111-100, grabbed a 14-point halftime lead and while the Hawks pulled within one several times, they never could catch up.

Monroe finished with 28 points and Loughery 26. Zelmo Beaty had 31 for the Hawks.

While Chamberlain managed only one field goal and 4 of 14 free throws, Baylor erupted for 18 points in the third period when the Lakers took a 91-71 lead. Chicago closed in the final period, but the Lakers held on to increase their lead to four games over idle San Francisco.

Penn State Whips Pitt

Ohio St. Whips Michigan, Will Face USC In Bowl

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State has its berth in the Rose Bowl against Southern California, but the question is, will the Buckeyes be playing the first, second or even third ranked team in the country?

Notre Dame might have the answer.

The Irish get last crack—before Ohio State—at Southern Cal when they square off Saturday in the Los Angeles Coliseum before a national television audience, and you can bet 10th-ranked Notre Dame will have plenty to prove on this Football matter.

USC, 9-0, apparently will enter the game still top-ranked after beating down stubborn cross-town rival UCLA 28-16 while Ohio State, 9-0, completed its regular season with a rousing and surprising 50-14 over Michigan in the struggle for the Big Ten title and the bowl bid.

Should USC beat Notre Dame, it probably would keep its top billing, but should the Trojans lose, they could drop to second and even third behind Penn State, while Ohio State takes the top spot.

Penn State, No. 3 at 9-0, with a Dec. 7 battle against Syracuse still waiting, overwhelmed Pittsburgh 65-9.

But these aren't the only questions still lacking answers as the regular college football season draws to a close. The Cotton and Sugar bowls are still in the dark on their second teams—Texas or Arkansas.

Arkansas put in its final bid for the Southwest Conference championship and the automatic spot in the Cotton by walloping Texas Tech 42-7 in its finale. Texas gets its final say against rival Texas A&M on television Thanksgiving Day Thursday.

Arkansas is 6-1 in the conference, Texas 5-1, and a victory over the Aggies would give Texas a conference tie and the Cotton Bowl on the strength of its victory earlier over Arkansas. Arkansas would then wind up in the Sugar. A Texas loss would put the Longhorns in the Sugar.

And then there is still the question of rankings.

Michigan, No. 4, is certain to drop, but the other Top Ten members in action last Saturday, Kansas and Tennessee, came through with victories. Kansas, No. 7 and Orange Bowl bound against Penn State, clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight crown with a 21-19 squeaker over Missouri, No. 13, while Tennessee, No. 8 and headed for the Cotton Bowl, breezed past Kentucky 24-7. The Vols play Vanderbilt Saturday.

Georgia, No. 5, which finishes against Georgia Tech Saturday, was idle with Texas and Notre Dame.

Houston, No. 11, raised its stock by raising the score, pouring it on downtrodden Tulsa 100-6, a score so high the NCAA computer would not accept it. The Cougars, led by Paul Gipson's 289 yards and three touchdowns, piled on 49 points in the final period to become the first team since Wyoming in 1949 to reach 100.

The points also helped shatter several NCAA record with 2,407 points being scored in 49 games during the weekend, an average of 49.12 a game.

"Please don't ask me anything," said Houston Coach Bill Yeoman, who had most of his starters out midway through the third period. "I'm embarrassed that we could beat a team like Tulsa 100-6."

Tulsa Coach Glen Dobbs could only mutter "we're a sick, injured and very young team."

Houston, 6-1-2, has a bigger test Saturday night at Jacksonville, Fla., against Florida State, 7-2, which is bound for the Peach Bowl after Ron Sellers caught five touchdown passes in a 42-24 victory over Wake Forest.

Virginia Tech, 6-3, although idle before finishing against VMI Thursday, accepted a bid to the Liberty Bowl against Mississippi while Wyoming, No. 20 [illegible] lost its chance of any invitation by losing to Arizona 14-7.

Elsewhere in the Top Twenty, Purdue, No. 12, beat Indiana 38-35 as Leroy Keyes ended his collegiate career with four touchdowns; Oklahoma, No. 14, all but won a share of the Big Eight title by crushing Nebraska 47-0 as Steve Owens scored five times and Oregon State, No. 16, dropped Oregon 41-19.

Ohio University, No. 17, finished an unbeaten season with a 28-12 victory over Northern Illinois, and California, No. 18, lost to Stanford, 20-0.

Alabama, No. 15, and Auburn, No. 19, which meet Saturday, were idle.

Oklahoma still needs a victory over Oklahoma State Saturday to tie Kansas.

In a battle for the Ivy League title, unbeatens Yale and Harvard struggled to a thrilling 29-29 tie when Harvard scored 16 points in the last 42 seconds on two touchdowns and two two-point conversions, the last after time had run out.

Ohio State, winning its first Rose Bowl bid in 11 years, broke a 14-14 tie late in the second quarter under the direction of Rex Kern. Jim Otis' scored four touchdowns for Ohio State while the defense stopped Ron Johnson with 92 yards.

While Ohio State fans kept chanting "We're No. 1," Buckeyes' Coach Woody Hayes said "I think we proved it out there today."

O. J. Simpson thinks differently. The Southern Cal All-American, after running for three touchdowns and 205 yards on 40 carries for an NCAA record 1,654 yards in a season as the Trojans twice came from behind, said:

"I won't predict by how much . . . but we'll beat them." But he was talking about Ohio State, not Notre Dame.

Penny Early Appears At ABA Game

By The Associated Press

Penny Ann Early put in her first, very unofficial, appearance in the American Basketball Association, with the reactions varied from a ho-hum from the fans to a hopping-mad reaction from New York Nets' owner Arthur Brown.

"He's making us look like a bunch of fools," Brown said of Charlie Masten, the Kentucky Colonels general manager who signed the petite, would-be woman jockey to a short-term ABA contract.

Penny Ann, dressed in a black knit dress and a coat, took two [illegible] shots she missed both of them—during the halftime intermission of Sunday's New York Nets-Kentucky game at Commack, N.Y. The Nets missed some, too, and New York stalked off with a 91-84 victory.

Los Angeles beat home-standing Houston 117-109 in overtime in the only other Sunday game. In Saturday's games, Miami stopped Indiana 126-107 and the Nets edged Minnesota 110-105.

In Sunday's NBA games, Los Angeles nipped Chicago 103-100, Seattle bombed Milwaukee 141-120, Baltimore beat Atlanta 118-111 and San Diego outlasted Philadelphia 135-128 in overtime.

Brown even challenged BA Commissioner George Mikan's authority in approving Miss Early's contract.

"If something unusual comes up," he said, "it's up the owners, not Mikan. If the league lets her play, there's no reason for having an ABA.

"We've got a lot of money invested and are trying to create an image. Were not operating at a publicity man's whims."

There's little chance Miss Early will see game action.

"I was signed by Kentucky strictly out of sympathy because I couldn't become a jockey," she said, but added that she would appear at the Colonels' next home game Wednesday.

"I'll be in uniform and will go on the court before the game—make a couple of passes and that's it. I don't expect to be in the game. That will be the end of it."

She said she has "no intention of playing professional basketball," She was signed after being thwarted in her efforts to become a jockey at Churchill Downs.

Willie Somerset paced Houston with 27 points.

Bruins Keep Hot

Dryden Blanks Minnesota For 2nd Straight Game

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hottest goaltender in the National Hockey League is Chicago's Dave Dryden, who has burned Minnesota twice in less than a week.

Handed the Hawks' No. 1 goalie job two weeks ago, Dryden has allowed just one goal in the last three games, shutting out Minnesota twice. The latest was a 6-0 whitewashing which the Black Hawks hung on the North Stars Sunday night.

In other Sunday night games, Boston bombed Toronto 7-4 and Los Angeles trimmed Philadelphia 3-1.

In Saturday night's games, Boston ripped New York 5-1, Montreal topped Minnesota 4-3, Detroit dropped Toronto 5-2, Oakland edged Philadelphia 2-1, St. Louis shut out Chicago 1-0 and Los Angeles played Pittsburgh to a 2-2 standoff.

Dryden kicked out 30 shots against Minnesota including a breakaway effort by Billy Collins in the second period. The two shutouts in less than a week were one more than Dryden had managed in parts of two previous NHL seasons.

He had plenty of support from the Black Hawks as Eric Nesterenko and Ken Wharram led the rout with two goals apiece. Chicago scored four times in the final period to break the game open.

And while Dryden is concentrating on scoreless goaltending, the Boston Bruins are concentrating on battering goaltenders. The Bruins had a 12-goal weekend, capping it off with seven against Toronto Sunday after scoring five against New York the night before.

Phil Esposito led the Sunday romp with three goals and two assists. The hat trick gave Esposito 12 goals for the season. One of his assists came on a goal by Ron Murphy, the first one for the 35-year-old veteran since the 1966-67 season. Murphy missed most of last year with injuries.

Goals by Ron Ellis and Murray Oliver 16 seconds apart in the third period cut the Bruins' lead to a single goal by Esposito's third of the night helped keep Boston in command.

The victory kept the Bruins tied for second place with New York, one point back of idle Montreal. The Rangers got [illegible] Giacomin to halt Oakland.

Ron Stewart and Rod Gilbert had given the Rangers a two-goal lead in the second period when Oakland's Norm Ferguson scored on a penalty shot, cutting New York's edge to 3-2. But Giacomin held the Seals off after that, protecting the victory.

Los Angeles ended a 10-game road winless string by beating Philadelphia with defenseman Larry Cahan's goal snapping a third period tie. Guy Gendron had tied the score for the Flyers four minutes into the final period before Cahan put the Kings in front to stay.

Cleve Bryant OU Grid MVP

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Junior quarterback Cleve Bryant of Canton received the Most Valuable Player Award during Ohio University's annual football banquet Sunday night.

Bryant, in leading the Bobcats to the Mid 1 America Conference championship with a 10-0 mark, set school career records for total offense and passing, and set a conference season mark with 2,268 yards.

Coach Bill Hess awarded 38 letters during the banquet, 23 to underclassmen.

Penn State Whips Pitt

Ohio St. Whips Michigan, Will Face USC In Bowl

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State has its berth in the Rose Bowl against Southern California, but the question is, will the Buckeyes be playing the first, second or even third ranked team in the country?

Notre Dame might have the answer.

The Irish get last crack—before Ohio State—at Southern Cal when they square off Saturday in the Los Angeles Coliseum before a national television audience, and you can bet 10th-ranked Notre Dame will have plenty to say on this ranking matter.

USC, 9-0, apparently will enter the game still top-ranked after beating down stubborn cross-town rival UCLA 28-16 while Ohio State, 9-0, completed its regular season with a rousing and surprising 50-14 over Michigan in the struggle for the Big Ten title and the bowl bid.

Should USC beat Notre Dame, it probably would keep its top billing, but should the Trojans lose, they could drop to second and even third behind Penn State, while Ohio State takes the top spot.

Penn State, No. 3 at 9-0, with a Dec. 7 battle against Syracuse still waiting, overwhelmed Pittsburgh 65-9.

But these aren't the only questions still lacking answers as the regular college football season draws to a close. The Cotton and Sugar bowls are still in the dark on their second teams—Texas or Arkansas.

Arkansas put in its final bid for the Southwest Conference championship and the automatic spot in the Cotton by walloping Texas Tech 42-7 in its finale. Texas gets its final say against rival Texas A&M on television Thanksgiving Day Thursday.

Arkansas is 6-1 in the conference, Texas 5-1, and a victory over the Aggies would give Texas a conference tie and the Cotton Bowl on the strength of its victory earlier over Arkansas. Arkansas would then wind up in the Sugar. A Texas loss would put the Longhorns in the Sugar.

And then there is still the question of rankings.

Michigan, No. 4, is certain to drop, but the other Top Ten members in action last Saturday, Kansas and Tennessee, came through with victories. Kansas, No. 7 and Orange Bowl bound against Penn State, clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight crown with a 21-19 squeaker over Missouri, No. 13, while Tennessee, No. 8 and headed for the Cotton Bowl, breezed past Kentucky 24-7. The Vols play Vanderbilt Saturday.

Georgia, No. 5, which finishes against Georgia Tech Saturday, was idle with Texas and Notre Dame.

Houston, No. 11, raised its stock by raising the score, pouring it on downtrodden Tulsa 100-6, a score so high the NCAA computer would not accept it. The Cougars, led by Paul Gipson's 289 yards and three touchdowns, piled on 49 points in the final period to become the first team since Wyoming in 1949 to reach 100.

The points also helped shatter several NCAA record with 2,407 points being scored in 49 games during the weekend, an average of 49.12 a game.

"Please don't ask me anything," said Houston Coach Bill Yeoman, who had most of his starters out midway through the third period. "I'm embarrassed that we could beat a team like Tulsa 100-6."

Tulsa Coach Glen Dobbs could only mutter "we're a sick, injured and very young team."

Houston, 6-1-2, has a bigger test Saturday night at Jacksonville, Fla., against Florida State, 7-2, which is bound for the Peach Bowl after Ron Sellers caught five touchdown passes in a 42-24 victory over Wake Forest.

Virginia Tech, 6-3, although idle before finishing against VMI Thursday, accepted a bid to the Liberty Bowl against Mississippi while Wyoming, No. 20, lost its chance of any invitation by losing to Arizona 14-7.

Elsewhere in the Top Twenty, Purdue, No. 12, beat Indiana 38-35 as Leroy Keyes ended his collegiate career with four touchdowns; Oklahoma, No. 14, all but won a share of the Big Eight title by crushing Nebraska 47-0 as Steve Owens scored five times and Oregon State, No. 16, dropped Oregon 41-19.

Ohio University, No. 17, finished an unbeaten season with a 28-12 victory over Northern Illinois, and California, No. 18, lost to Stanford, 20-0.

Alabama, No. 15, and Auburn, No. 19, which meet Saturday, were idle.

Oklahoma still needs a victory over Oklahoma State Saturday to tie Kansas.

In a battle for the Ivy League title, unbeatens Yale and Harvard struggled to a thrilling 29-29 tie when Harvard scored 16 points in the last 42 seconds on two touchdowns and two two-point conversions, the last after time had run out.

Ohio State, winning its first Rose Bowl bid in 11 years, broke a 14-14 tie late in the second quarter under the direction of Rex Kern. Jim Otis' scored four touchdowns for Ohio State while the defense stopped Ron Johnson with 92 yards.

While Ohio State fans kept chanting "We're No. 1," Buckeyes' Coach Woody Hayes said "I think we proved it out there today."

O. J. Simpson thinks differently. The Southern Cal All-American, after running for three touchdowns and 205 yards on 40 carries for an NCAA record 1,654 yards in a season as the Trojans twice came from behind, said:

"I won't predict by how much . . . but we'll beat them." But he was talking about Ohio State, not Notre Dame.

Penny Early Appears At ABA Game

By The Associated Press

Penny Ann Early put in her first, very unofficial, appearance in the American Basketball Association, with the reactions varied from a ho-hum from the fans to a hopping-mad reaction from New York Nets' owner Arthur Brown.

"He's making us look like a bunch of fools," Brown said of Charlie Masten, the Kentucky Colonels general manager who signed the petite, would-be woman jockey to a short-term ABA contract.

Penny Ann, dressed in a black knit dress and a coat, took two practice shots—she missed both of them—during the halftime intermission of Sunday's New York Nets-Kentucky game at Commack, N.Y. The Nets missed some, too, and New York stalked off with a 91-84 victory.

Los Angeles beat home-standing Houston 117-109 in overtime in the only other Sunday game. In Saturday's games, Miami stopped Indiana 126-107 and the Nets edged Minnesota 110-105.

In Sunday's NBA games, Los Angeles nipped Chicago 103-100, Seattle bombed Milwaukee 141-120, Baltimore beat Atlanta 118-111 and San Diego outlasted Philadelphia 135-128 in overtime.

Brown even challenged BA Commissioner George Mikan's authority in approving Miss Early's contract.

"If something unusual comes up," he said, "it's up the owners, not Mikan. If the league lets her play, there's no reason for having an ABA.

"We've got a lot of money invested and are trying to create an image. Were not operating at a publicity man's whims."

There's little chance Miss Early will see game action.

"I was signed by Kentucky strictly out of sympathy because I couldn't become a jockey," she said, but added that she would appear at the Colonels' next home game Wednesday.

"I'll be in uniform and will go on the court before the game—make a couple of passes and that's it. I don't expect to be in the game. That will be the end of it."

She said she has "no intention of playing professional basketball," She was signed after being thwarted in her efforts to become a jockey at Churchill Downs.

Willie Somerset paced Houston with 27 points.

Bruins Keep Hot

Dryden Blanks Minnesota For 2nd Straight Game

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hottest goaltender in the National Hockey League is Chicago's Dave Dryden, who has burned Minnesota twice in less than a week.

Handed the Hawks' No. 1 goalie job two weeks ago, Dryden has allowed just one goal in the last three games, shutting out Minnesota twice. The latest was a 6-0 whitewashing which the Black Hawks hung on the North Stars Sunday night.

In other Sunday night games, New York edged Oakland 3-2, Boston bombed Toronto 7-4 and Los Angeles trimmed Philadelphia 3-1.

In Saturday night's games, Boston ripped New York 5-1, Montreal topped Minnesota 4-3, Detroit dropped Toronto 5-2, Oakland edged Philadelphia 2-1, St. Louis shut out Chicago 1-0 and Los Angeles played Pittsburgh to a 2-2 standoff.

Dryden kicked out 30 shots against Minnesota including a breakaway effort by Billy Collins in the second period. The two shutouts in less than a week were one more than Dryden had managed in parts of two previous NHL seasons.

He had plenty of support from the Black Hawks as Eric Nesterenko and Ken Wharram led the rout with two goals apiece. Chicago scored four times in the final period to break the game open.

And while Dryden is concentrating on scoreless goaltending, the Boston Bruins are concentrating on battering goaltenders. The Bruins had a 12-goal weekend, capping it off with seven against Toronto Sunday after scoring five against New York the night before.

Phil Esposito led the Sunday romp with three goals and two assists. The hat trick gave Esposito 12 goals for the season. One of his assists came on a goal by Ron Murphy, the first one for the 35-year-old veteran since the 1966-67 season. Murphy missed most of last year with injuries.

Goals by Ron Ellis and Murray Oliver 16 seconds apart in the third period cut the Bruins' lead to a single goal by Esposito's third of the night helped keep Boston in command.

The victory kept the Bruins tied for second place with New York, one point back of idle Montreal. The Rangers got steady goaltending from Ed Giacomin to halt Oakland.

Ron Stewart and Rod Gilbert had given the Rangers a two-goal lead in the second period when Oakland's Norm Ferguson scored on a penalty shot, cutting New York's edge to 3-2. But Giacomin held the Seals off after that, protecting the victory.

Los Angeles ended a 10-game road winless string by beating Philadelphia with defenseman Larry Cahan's goal snapping a third period tie. Guy Gendron had tied the score for the Flyers four minutes into the final period before Cahan put the Kings in front to stay.

Cleve Bryant OU Grid MVP

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Junior quarterback Cleve Bryant of Canton received the Most Valuable Player Award during Ohio University's annual football banquet Sunday night.

Bryant, in leading the Bobcats to the Mid 1 America Conference championship with a 10-0 mark, set school career records for total offense and passing, and set a conference season mark with 2,268 yards.

Coach Bill Hess awarded 38 letters during the banquet, 23 to underclassmen.

Boy Runs Into Auto

Officers Report 6 Local Mishaps

Six mishaps marred weekend traffic in East Liverpool, but only one minor injury was reported.

An 11-year-old Dresden Ave. boy was taken to City Hospital Saturday afternoon after he ran into the side of an auto on the parking lot at an E. 3rd St. drive - in restaurant, officers said.

Allan Carroll of 772 Dresden Ave. was bumped by the left front fender of a 1965 two-door sedan driven by Michael J. Provenzano, 17, of 1517 Commerce St., Wellsville, and knocked to the asphalt pavement of Buddie's Restaurant at E. 3rd and College Sts., officers said. The mishap was timed at 12:50.

Provenzano told officers he had pulled onto the restaurant lot when the boy ran down the sidewalk, turned around to look east, and ran into the left front fender of the auto. The young driver and his father took the boy to the hospital.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith reported he talked with the pedestrian at the hospital. Young Carroll said the mishap was his fault because he was not looking and ran into the car, the officer said.

TWO CARS were damaged in a collision Sunday at 4:52 p.m. on State St. 200 feet west of Pennsylvania Ave.

The mishap involved a 1964 model convertible driven by Howard Monroe Jr., 16, of 1164 Erie St. and a 1968 sedan operated by Eddie Morehead, 22, of 841 Fairview St., officers said.

Monroe told officers he had started to pull onto State St. when his car stalled and Morehead's auto, headed east, hit his vehicle on the side. Morehead told officers Monroe pulled into his path and he applied his brakes, but could not stop in time.

A mishap on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way Saturday at 8:30 p.m. damaged a 1964 model station wagon driven by Ralph W. Fowler, 21, of Post Office Box 279 and a 1968 compact operated by Thomas M. Fazike, 16, of Georgetown RD 1.

Fowler told officers he was in the right - hand lane of traffic at the intersection and Fazike was in the left-hand lane, which is marked for left turns only. He said Fazike then made a right turn in front of him, striking the left front of his car.

A PARKED auto was damaged in a collision Saturday at 5:44 p.m. on Boyce St. at Mapletree St., officers said.

A backing 1960 station wagon operated by Ira Wall, 74, of 1105 Mapletree St. hit an open rear door of a parked 1967 station wagon owned by Bert Willison of 1812 Harvey Ave., police said. Wall's auto was not damaged, police said.

Faulty steering was blamed for a collision Saturday at 5:30 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at 1st Ave. that damaged two autos.

A 1964 sedan driven by Salvatore B. Natalina, 18, of 926 St. George St. struck the rear of a parked 1960 sedan owned by Robert A. Douglas of 1007 Pennsylvania Ave., officers said.

Natalina told police he was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. when the steering of his car "locked" and caused him to hit the parked auto.

There was damage to the entire front end of Natalina's car and the left rear fender, tail light and trunk lid of the Douglas auto, officers said.

—:—

A COLLISION on Lisbon St. near Olnhausen St. Saturday at 5:56 p.m. damaged a northbound auto and a car which was backing onto the thoroughfare, officers said.

The crash involved a 1964 sedan operated by Clyde L. Widner, 18, of 655½ Lincoln Ave. and a 1962 sedan operated by Edith L. Clark, 56, of 1525 Lisbon St.

Widner told officers he was driving north about 40 miles an hour when the woman backed from a private driveway and he was unable to stop in time. The woman said she did not see Widner's approaching auto. The youth's vehicle left 60 feet of skid marks, officers said.

National Park Dedicated By Mrs. Johnson

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson concludes her final beautify-America pilgrimage as First Lady by dedicating the 58,000-acre Redwood National Park "to the happiness of the people."

"For us, this ceremony is the crowning moment of a crusade which has lasted two generations," Mrs. Johnson said.

Her remarks were prepared for the dedication ceremony today at the foot of a 300-foot-tall redwood in the new national park near Orick, 40 miles north of Eureka in coastal Northern California.

Mrs. Johnson said creation of the park, out of existing California state parks and private timberland, "is one of my husband's proudest achievements."

And she complimented "the great generosity" of big timber companies in helping to create the park, a subject of a bitter, emotional dispute in the area where the economy depends on the redwood logging industry.

From the dedication site above Redwood Creek, Mrs. Johnson and her entourage will visit other areas of the new park, which stretches 40 miles along the Pacific Coast almost to the Oregon state line.

Mrs. Johnson planned to fly later to San Antonio, Tex. and then to the LBJ Ranch, ending a three-day, 6,000 mile tour that included stops at New Orleans, Cape Kennedy, Fla., Denver, Colo., and California.

Controversy still surrounds the park. Yet to be negotiated is the price to be paid to timber operators for nearly 30,000 acres of redwood land.

The rest of the park consists of three California state parks which remain in state ownership until a purchase, lease or land exchange agreement is negotiated with the federal government. So far, the only developed camping and picnic grounds are within the state park areas.

Mrs. Johnson arrived by jet late Sunday and told a welcoming crowd, "I've wanted all my life to see the redwoods. I'm so glad I'm going to see them tomorrow."

In her dedication remarks, Mrs. Johnson said, "Perhaps the best tribute anyone can offer is to walk away from these forests a little straighter, a littler taller, embracing life a little more calmly and joyfully for having seen this place . . .

"Let us be thankful that in this world, which offers so few glimpses of immortality, these trees are now a permanent part of our heritage."

New Storm Developing In Rockies

By The Associated Press

A storm system developing over the northern and central Rockies today threatened the generally pleasant and sunny weather enjoyed by most of the nation over the weekend.

Travelers' warnings were out for southern Montana, southeastern Idaho and northern Utah where heavy snows were expected in the mountains. The storm will spread into Wyoming and Colorado later today. Three inches of snow covered Grangeville in Central Idaho by morning.

Snow also was falling at higher elevations along the Pacific Coast as a flow of moist ocean air brought scattered rain or snow from Washington to Nevada and central California.

Two inches of snow fell on Susanville in northeastern California, and one inch whitened Lakeview, Ore., by early morning.

Winds from an apparently localized storm lashed the Los Angeles area during the night and early morning, toppling trees, smashing large windows and knocking out electrical power in some communities.

The Weather Bureau reported gusts up to 70 miles an hour at Van Nuys, but said the wind generally was in the 30 to 45 mile an hour range. Witnesses in North Hollywood said the winds sent large wood and metal partitions flying like leaves at the construction site of a parking garage.

Cleveland Man Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 52-year-old Cleveland man died Sunday night after drinking a half pint of gasoline from a soft drink bottle he found in an East Side billiard parlor, police said.

Dead was Stuart Harper, who police said drank most of the gasoline in the bottle and then complained of stomach pains.

The owner of the billiard parlor quoted Harper as saying he thought there was scotch in the bottle.

Patrol Reports 2 Area Mishaps

There were no injuries and only light damage in two accidents investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon Friday.

James S. Bowyer, 17, of 633 Riley Ave. drove his 1966 convertible off the south edge of Grimms Bridge Rd., a mile and half east of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., at 9:45 a.m. to avoid a westbound school bus operated by Georgia Lee Knowles, 29, of Grimms Bridge Rd.

The Bowyer auto struck mailboxes.

In another accident, Imogene McDaniel, 47, of Cleveland, driving a 1968 coach, halted for the stop sign on Route 30 about a mile south of Route 267. Ronald W. Winehold, 35, of Youngstown, also driving a 1968 coach, stopped his auto behind the McDaniel car and then drifted forward into it. The accident was timed at 2:35 p.m.

The DOCTOR Says

Child's Toys Can Be Dangerous

Q—What is meant by high or low metabolism?

A — Metabolism is the continuing process of breaking down and replacing body tissues. When it occurs at a high or accelerated rate, the usual cause is an overactive thyroid.

Dr. Brandstadt

Q — To determine the condition of one's thyroid, is it necessary to enter the hospital for a metabolism test?

A — Four tests of thyroid function have almost completely supplanted the old basal metabolic rate. They are the protein - bound iodine level of your blood, the photomotogram, the radioactive iodine uptake and the triodothyronine uptake. These tests can be done in an outpatient department.

Q—What can be done for an overactive thyroid?

A—Several drugs that suppress thyroid activity are available but they are useful chiefly to get a patient in good physical condition for surgical removal of a part (usually about 6-7) of the thyroid since this operation gives the best chance for lasting (not necessarily permanent) improvement.

Q—Should medication be prescribed following a thyroid operation to prevent recurrence?

A—Not routinely. There is a thin dividing line between the removal of too much or too little of the gland. If too much is removed, thyroid extract must be given and, if too little, a thyroid suppressant is required.

Q—I had an operation for an overactive thyroid in December 1967. I took thyroid pills for awhile, then I stopped. Now I have palpitation, I am always sleepy and my vision is blurred Could this be because I stopped taking the thyroid pills?

A — If you have a deficiency of thyroid hormone, this might account for your drowsiness. On the other hand, an overactive thyroid might cause your palpitation. Neither extreme is characterized by blurred vision. Why not quit guessing and have your doctor find out what is wrong?

Q—I have a toxic thyroid. Is there any danger of cancer?

A—Toxic thyroid does not predispose to cancer.

Q—After a thyroid operation, is it still possible to get pregnant?

A—Yes, unless there is some other reason for a failure to conceive.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Youngstown Schools Face Bus Problem

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Although Youngstown's public schools will shut down this week due to lack of funds, the school system still is required to provide bus service for 2,500 parochial school pupils.

"We do not have the cash for busing in December and do not know how we can continue to do this," said School Supt. Woodrow W. Zinser.

Public school officials planned to meet today to grapple with the problem.

An unofficial opinion due Wednesday from Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe states that Youngstown public schools must carry the parochial school students during the month-long shutdown according to the Ohio Fair Bus Law.

It is estimated that the cost of busing the parochial school pupils during the shutdown will be $10,000. The city system pays $3,000 of the cost and the state pay the remainder.

Boy Runs Into Auto

Officers Report 6 Local Mishaps

Six mishaps marred weekend traffic in East Liverpool, but only one minor injury was reported.

An 11-year-old Dresden Ave. boy was taken to City Hospital Saturday afternoon after he ran into the side of an auto on the parking lot at an E. 3rd St. drive - in restaurant, officers said.

Allan Carroll of 772 Dresden Ave. was bumped by the left front fender of a 1965 two-door sedan driven by Michael J. Provenzano, 17, of 1517 Commerce St., Wellsville, and knocked to the asphalt pavement of Buddie's Restaurant at E. 3rd and College Sts., officers said. The mishap was timed at 12:50.

Provenzano told officers he had pulled onto the restaurant lot when the boy ran down the sidewalk, turned around to look east, and ran into the left front fender of the auto. The young driver and his father took the boy to the hospital.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith reported he talked with the pedestrian at the hospital. Young Carroll said the mishap was his fault because he was not looking and ran into the car, the officer said.

TWO CARS were damaged in a collision Sunday at 4:52 p.m. on State St. 200 feet west of Pennsylvania Ave.

The mishap involved a 1964 model convertible driven by Howard Monroe Jr., 16, of 1164 Erie St. and a 1968 sedan operated by Eddie Morehead, 22, of 841 Fairview St., officers said.

Monroe told officers he had started to pull onto State St. when his car stalled and Morehead's auto, headed east, hit his vehicle on the side. Morehead told officers Monroe pulled into his path and he applied his brakes, but could not stop in time.

A mishap on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way Saturday at 8:30 p.m. damaged a 1964 model station wagon driven by Ralph W. Fowler, 21, of Post Office Box 279 and a 1968 compact operated by Thomas M. Fazike, 16, of Georgetown RD 1.

Fowler told officers he was in the right - hand lane of traffic at the intersection and Fazike was in the left-hand lane, which is marked for left turns only. He said Fazike then made a right turn in front of him, striking the left front of his car.

A PARKED auto was damaged in a collision Saturday at 5:44 p.m. on Boyce St, at Mapletree St., officers said.

A backing 1960 station wagon operated by Ira Wall, 74, of 1105 Mapletree St. hit an open rear door of a parked 1967 station wagon owned by Bert Willison of 1812 Harvey Ave., police said. Wall's auto was not damaged, police said.

Faulty steering was blamed for a collision Saturday at 5:30 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at 1st Ave. that damaged two autos.

A 1964 sedan driven by Salvatore B. Natalina, 18, of 926 St. George St. struck the rear of a parked 1960 sedan owned by Robert A. Douglas of 1007 Pennsylvania Ave., officers said.

Natalina told police he was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. when the steering of his car "locked" and caused him to hit the parked auto.

There was damage to the entire front end of Natalina's car and the left rear fender, tail light and trunk lid of the Douglas auto, officers said.

—:—

A COLLISION on Lisbon St. near Olnhausen St. Saturday at 5:56 p.m. damaged a northbound auto and a car which was backing onto the thoroughfare, officers said.

The crash involved a 1964 sedan operated by Clyde L. Widner, 18, of 655½ Lincoln Ave. and a 1962 sedan operated by Edith L. Clark, 56, of 1525 Lisbon St.

Widner told officers he was driving north about 40 miles an hour when the woman backed from a private driveway and he was unable to stop in time. The woman said she did not see Widner's approaching auto. The youth's vehicle left 60 feet of skid marks, officers said.

Democrat Leaders Hail Proposed Party Reform

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The new Democratic Coalition, making reform of the Democratic party's machinery one of its first goals, has commended National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien for saying he will name two reform committees.

The action Sunday by the coalition's temporary steering committee meeting in St. Louis underscored its determination to work within the framework of the Democratic party.

Most members of the steering committee were active in the presidential campaigns of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, or Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, and many worked for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey after his nomination.

The steering committee put off for two months decisions on a more formal national organization, but approved a statement that its main goal is "to transform the Democratic party into a national political instrument which will represent and provide avenues of participation for all citizens."

Noting O'Brien's announcement Saturday that he would soon name the groups to develop new rules for the 1972 Democratic National Convention, the coalition sent him a telegram urging that they be "composed of those who worked to achieve party reform during the (1968) convention and whose membership will signal vigorous and prompt assistance to all states in making changes."

Several members expressed hope O'Brien would appoint Harold E. Hughes, governor of Iowa and a senator-elect, as chairman of the special committee to set guidelines for selecting 1972 delegates. Hughes headed a group whose recommendations on reform led to formation of the coalition.

The telegram also asked O'Brien and Humphrey to meet with the two newly elected cochairmen of the coalition steering committee, Donald O. Peterson of Wisconsin and Paul Schrade of California.

Peterson led the successful primary fight for McCarthy in Wisconsin, while Schrade, West Coast regional director of the United Auto Workers union, was a supporter of Robert Kennedy and was among those wounded when Kennedy was assassinated.

Members stressed that the coalition would not get involved either with McCarthy or such prospective 1972 presidential candidates as Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

The coalition scheduled another meeting for Jan. 18 and 19 amid some disagreement over the relative importance of the national and state organizations.

Executive Director Earl Craig of Minneapolis said, "Much of the vitality of the new Democratic coalition has to be at the state level."

But Schrade said the purpose of the coalition, "is to bring about a national organization of liberal and progressive forces in the Democratic party."

Although much of the session was consumed in wrangling over procedural duties, such as how to expand the steering committee, the coalition formed several task forces including one on party reforms headed by John Garfield of Iowa. It will work with coalitions in the various states and present ideas to the group to be named by O'Brien.

Construction Planned For Giant 'Scope'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Construction of the largest steerable radar telescope in the world is being planned by Ohio State and 10 other Midwestern universities.

Although no site has been picked for the facilities, a panel of scientists has suggested construction of the telescope with two supplementary stations to form a triangle with 200-mile sides.

The telescope will cost about $20 million. It will be a dish-shaped structure 360 feet in diameter. The largest comparable instrument now in use is the 240-foot radio telescope at Jodrel Bank, England.

In addition to Ohio State, universities working on the project are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Michigan State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, Wisconsin and the University of Chicago.

The new facilities will be used for research in aeronomy, astronomy, meteorology, plasma physics and space science.

Primary function of the telescope will be aeronomy, the study of the earth's upper atmosphere.

The facility also will be used for telemetry and tracking of space probes, and will allow detailed study of surface features of Mercury, Venus and Mars to provide information for the planning of future space flights.

The number of parks in the National Park System is now 35, with the newest being Redwood National Park, North Cascades National Park, National Wild and Scenic Rivers System and National Trails System. The country's scenic rivers and historic trails are under federal protection for the first time.

Members stressed that the coalition would not get involved either with McCarthy or such prospective 1972 presidential candidates as Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

The coalition scheduled another meeting for Jan. 18 and 19 amid some disagreement over the relative importance of the national and state organizations.

Executive Director Earl Craig of Minneapolis said, "Much of the vitality of the new Democratic coalition has to be at the state level."

But Schrade said the purpose of the coalition, "is to bring about a national organization of liberal and progressive forces in the Democratic party."

Although much of the session was consumed in wrangling over procedural duties, such as how to expand the steering committee, the coalition formed several task forces including one on party reforms headed by John Garfield of Iowa. It will work with coalitions in the various states and present ideas to the group to be named by O'Brien.

Construction Planned For Giant 'Scope'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Construction of the largest steerable radar telescope in the world is being planned by Ohio State and 10 other Midwestern universities.

Although no site has been picked for the facilities, a panel of scientists has suggested construction of the telescope with two supplementary stations to form a triangle with 200-mile sides.

The telescope will cost about $20 million. It will be a dish-shaped structure 360 feet in diameter. The largest comparable instrument now in use is the 240-foot radio telescope at Jodrel Bank, England.

In addition to Ohio State, universities working on the project are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Michigan State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, Wisconsin and the University of Chicago.

The new facilities will be used for research in aeronomy, astronomy, meteorology, plasma physics and space science.

Primary function of the telescope will be aeronomy, the study of the earth's upper atmosphere.

The facility also will be used for telemetry and tracking of space probes, and will allow detailed study of surface features of Mercury, Venus and Mars to provide information for the planning of future space flights.

The number of parks in the National Park System is now 35, with the newest being Redwood National Park, North Cascades National Park, National Wild and Scenic Rivers System and National Trails System. The country's scenic rivers and historic trails are under federal protection for the first time.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q.—How can I soften and remove old paint and varnish on wood?

A.—By applying a mixture of two parts spirits of ammonia and one of turpentine or mineral spirits. In difficult areas, use a brush — and don't forget the sandpaper when removing paint or varnish.

Q.—How can I treat a new string mop to prevent its tangling and to make it last longer?

A.—By tying a knot at the end of each string of the mop.

Delay Approved In Abortion Trial

LISBON—The trial of George H. Sharpe, 76, of 1238 Croft St., East Liverpool, charged with abortion, has been continued until the January term of court, which lasts through March.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court sustained his motion for a continuance Friday. Defense Counsel James D. Primm Jr. of Lisbon said the defendant's health "will not permit him to stand trial without serious injury to him."

Restaurant Entered, But Nothing Is Taken

LISBON — Leroy Votaw, owner of Votaw's Restaurant on Snyder Rd. south of Salem reported a break-in to the sheriff's office at 4:15 a. m. today. Nothing was taken, he said.

Sheriff's Deputy Richard Koffel said entry was made by breaking a 15-by-50-inch glass window on the west side of the building.

The intruder tracked mud into the kitchen and around two pinball machines. The burglar broke open one machine and broke off the end of a screwdriver in an unsuccessful attempt to get in the other.

Votaw told the deputy the coin boxes of both machines were emptied Sunday afternoon.

Housing Needed

JERUSALEM (AP) — One thousand families a year should be evacuated from the teeming slums of the Old City, believes Mayor Teddy Kollek. He points out that 25,000 people live in an area of about 90 acres and some families live 10 to a room. An estimated 3,000 families are in sub standard homes while another 1,000 are in overcrowded apartments in projects built since the 1950s. Mayor Kollek has urged the Housing Ministry to start building 100 apartments for residents of the Old City.

Man Surrenders In Bank Holdup

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 29-year-old man who surrendered to police Sunday was scheduled to appear today in Criminal Court in connection with the $4,075 holdup of a branch bank here last September.

Police said Kenneth Watkins had four dollars in his pockets when he turned himself in at Central Station and told them he had spent most of the past two months in Georgia and Florida. He was charged with malicious entry of a financial institution.

An all-points bulletin was issued for Watkins' arrest shortly after the Provident Bank branch in east Cincinnati was robbed Sept. 11. Officers said a hidden camera in the bank photographed the robbery and that a getaway car was traced to Watkins.

Gen. John J. Pershing received the Pulitzer Prize for History in 1932.

Passengers Returned

Air Pirates Hijack Two More Jetliners To Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two planeloads of travelers, forced to Cuba at gunpoint by separate teams of hijackers, returned to the United States with strikingly similar stories of the latest acts of air piracy.

A Pan American Airways jet commandeered by three gunman over the Atlantic Ocean after leaving New York for San Juan, P.R., landed in Havana Sunday minutes after the first hijack victims of the weekend were flown to freedom.

An Eastern airliner en route to Miami from Chicago was taken over Saturday night by a team of five men who forced their way into the cockpit at gunpoint, then stood their victims a round of drinks.

The 78 Eastern passengers were returned to the United States in a plane chartered by the U.S. State Department. Cuban authorities released the stolen jetliners and crews a few hours later.

The same charter plane was dispatched back to the Communist island and retrieved the Pan American passengers early today.

Both captains said they learned their crafts had been hijacked when gun-waving men entered the cockpits shouting identical orders—"Cuba! Cuba! Cuba!"

Pan American Capt. Alvin Walker said, "It didn't take us long to decide. I told him, 'Don't shoot. Sit down. We go to Cuba.'"

Eastern pilot Robert Silver said that when his abductor pointed a pistol and ordered the new destination, "I looked at him and smiled and said, 'That's no problem. We're on the way.'"

After initial tensions eased, passengers on both planes reported their kidnapings took on an almost restive atmosphere.

Eastern stewardess Nancy Corson said one of the hijackers gave her $20 and insisted that she serve the passengers a round of drinks.

When served, passenger David Ruxton of Chicago said he was told the drink was on "the gentleman in the back with the gun."

Honeymooners Joseph and Ellen Hunoval of South Orange, N.J., said the apparent leader of the Pan American hijackers sat with them for awhile and described him as congenial.

Mrs. Hunoval, 24, told him that he was interrupting the first day of the couple's honeymoon "and he said he was very sympathetic" and "very sorry to inconvenience us."

The Pan American hijack team was accompanied by a woman and a baby. A woman, two children and a baby were part of the Eastern hijack party.

Both groups said their sole purpose in hijacking the planes was to return to their native Cuba.

Both trips were made without incident. Capt. Walker said no effort was made to avoid the flight to Cuba "because there were too many people with too many guns and knives who knew what we were doing."

Walker, 52, of Ramsey, N.J., said the leader of the hijackers "sat with his baby on his knee and gun in his hand."

Pan American officials said 96 persons boarded the flight in New York, 91 were on the rescue plane when it landed in Miami and 86 resumed their trip to San Juan today.

The weekend air thefts were the 17th and 18th commercial hijackings to Cuba since January. In all, 23 planes have made the trip at gunpoint this year.

2 More To Face Hearing In Theft Of Instruments

Two more juveniles, 15 and 16, will face hearings Friday in conjunction with the breaking and entering at the New Cumberland Junior High School band room over the weekend of Nov. 17.

They were picked up at Oak Glen High School during classes Friday by Police Chief William Webster of New Cumberland and taken before Juvenile Officer John Grossi. They were released on $1,000 bond each for the hearing before Squire John D. Herron.

Two other 17-year-olds also will appear before Herron Friday on similar charges. They are being held in the Brooke County Jail in default of $2,000 bond each.

Band instruments valued at $1,500 were taken from the band room. They were later recovered at a pawn shop.

Car Strikes Man; Local Motorist To Face Hearing

LISBON — A car driven by Myron L. Blackledge, 45, of 438 College St., East Liverpool, struck a man waiting to get in a parked car at 6:55 p. m. Saturday on E. Lincoln Way (Route 30) in front of the Round Corner Store.

Kenneth D. Smith, 55, of Lewisburg, Pa., complained of injuries to his arm and leg, but refused medical treatment, police said.

They charged the driver with driving while under the influence of alcohol and released him under $500 bond for a hearing Tuesday night in mayor's court.

Patrolman Ed Day said he was following Blackledge's car west on Lincoln Way and saw it strike Smith, who was standing by his car. The officer said Blackledge did not stop until he reached the Market St. intersection at the Courthouse.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Elephants have longer eyelashes than even the sultriest Hollywood stars. They range from four to five inches in length.

Whether you are left-handed or right-handed, the chances are that your left foot is slightly larger than your right.

Chronic aspirin addicts may be risking death. Based on experiments with rats, a Canadian medical study estimated that over a period of time the daily consumption of between 25 and 100 five - grain aspirin tablets could prove lethal to humans.

Have you ever seen a $10,000 bill? Most people haven't, but some $4 million worth of them were in circulation last year, or one for every half-million persons. Wouldn't it make a fellow's day to present one to a bus driver some day—and see his frustration as he tried to give you back your change in nickels?

Here's a nugget of knowledge that is bound to astound even your most blase neighbor: 91 per cent of the garden hoses sold in this country in 1968 were colored green. Remember, you read it here first.

King George I of England was a ruler who never let the duties of monarchy sweep him off his feet. He never even took the trouble to learn the English language.

Quotable notables: "The most incomprehensible thing about the world is that it is comprehensible."—Albert Einstein.

We're tending to become a nation of oldsters as well as youngsters. America now has 7.3 million people aged 75 or over, and the number is growing at the rate of 225,500 a year.

Greek wisdom: Socrates, often called the wisest man who ever lived, foresaw danger in trying to legislate equality of the sexes. "Once made equal to man," he warned, "woman becomes his superior."

Far-smelling: A fortune awaits any man who can develop for girls a perfume as irresistible as that produced by the female gypsy moth. Less than a hundred millionth of an ounce of attractant scent released by one of these feminine flutters will bring scores of bull moths stampeding to her from up to half a mile distant.

Toledo Makes Arrest On Gun Registration

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police Sunday issued the first citation under a new city ordinance requiring registration of pistols.

Doty Hibbler, 38, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and possession of an unregistered gun in connection with the wounding of Rosana McGee, 48, in the McGee home Sunday.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I mend small holes in linoleum?

A.—You can do a nice repair job by filling these holes with a thick paste made by mixing finely - chopped cork with shellac. After the repaired spot has hardened thoroughly, sandpaper the surface smooth, then touch it up with matching paint.

Q.—What can I do to renovate old furniture that is dirty and discolored?

A.—Try cleaning it with this solution: Equal quantities of vinegar, sweet oil, and turpentine, well shaken together. Apply by rubbing it vigorously on the furniture with a soft cloth.

New Unit To Be Built At Plant In Kentucky

HAWESVILLE, Ky. — President George A. Stinson of the National Steel Corp. and President Roy Richards of the Southwire Co. jointly have announced that a fourth aluminum potline will be built by the two companies at their reduction plant here.

The 45,000-ton unit, which will complete the basic plant originally contemplated by the companies, will be financed by proceeds of a $26 million industrial building revenue bond issue to be marketed early in December through an underwriting syndicate headed by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., and Eastman Dillon, Union Securities and Co.

A $116 million revenue bond issue was sold last June to finance construction of the plant which, with the addition of the fourth potline, will have a total annual capacity of 180,000 tons. Output of the fourth unit also will be divided equally between the two companies.

Production from the fourth potline is anticipated by early 1971.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Louie Nye Resigned To Fate

Comedian Louis Nye no longer worries about not having a TV series of his own, and that is a large worry for any comic to unload. A weekly TV series is still "the big time" for all performers (also the big money), and to content yourself without it is not easy.

Hal Humphrey

"I'm working at the good night clubs and on TV shows like Jackie Gleason's. I've got a Johnny Winters coming up with a funny sketch of the two of us playing retired English officers, and Jack Jones, Nancy Sinatra and I taped the "Ice Capades of 1969' in Atlantic City for a TV special," says an apparently relaxed Louis.

-:-

WHEN I TALKED with him, Louis was just winding up an engagement at the Las Vegas Tropicana with Si Zentner's band and singer Helen O'Connell. His monolog included the devastating take off of an old Army sergeant addressing a new batch of recruits. The audience loved it.

"You never know about these Vegas audiences," says Louis. "Sometimes they just sit there, stoned out of their heads. But after the show they'll come up to me in the casino, grab my arm and say, 'You're all right, see,' then go right back to playing the slot machines. Makes you feel kinda warm all over."

At least, as Louis adds, he can trust a night club audience and learn from it, which is something a comic can't do with a TV studio audience which is primed to laugh at anything by an advance "warmup" and an electric "applause" sign flashing.

It's been 10 years since Louis, Tom Poston and Don Knotts were the stock company for the old Steve Allen Hour.

Don got the biggest break after that when he joined the Andy Griffith Show. Tom became a regular panel member of "To Tell the Truth." Louis appeared with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball in their movie, "The Facts of Life."

After that Louis was talked about for TV series, including one which Ann Sothern wanted to back, in which he would play a dentist. It was a character he'd created in several episodes of Ann's second TV series, but that was as far as it got.

ONE SEASON Louis was introduced as Sonny Drysdale, offspring of banker Drysdale in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

He did six episodes, and received more mail than from anything else he'd ever done on TV, but the character was dropped. It was rumored that someone in the network or a sponsor though Sonny was too "sissified."

Louis wanted to do a series based on a debonair but funny detective. This was before Don Adams and 'Get Smart," but no one was interested. It was the year, says Louis, when TV producers wanted. "widowers with three sons or three daughters."

"Talking to anyone in charge at TV now is like talking to a blank wall," reports Louis. "They don't really listen; then when you're through talking, one of the program men will ask, 'What's your objection to being a baby doctor?' "

LOUIS RETREATS from such sessions these days without any remorse and signs up to do another TV commercial. Things aren't any saner in that field, but the pay is good and it's all over in two or three days. He even had a little old lady come up to him recently in a supermarket and asks for his autograph on a package of bacon.

"It was the bacon I do the commercial for and my picture is on the wrapper," he admits, a trifle sheepishly.

At the moment Louis is looking forward to another guest shot on Jackie Gleason's show.

"That is a real experience. The first day in Miami you do nothing. Jackie takes you over to the rehearsal and orders you a drink, and you sit and talk. He drinks champagne, by the way. Well, anyway, after you begin to look a little damp, Jackie orders a car for you and instructs the driver, 'Take him home.' "

One thing for certain, if Louis had his own series there'd be no time for anything like that, because he's too much of a worrier.

Personalities In The News

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Robert Taylor probably will leave St. John's Hospital by Tuesday after undergoing treatment for an infection that complicated his recovery from lung surgery, his family said Sunday night.

Doctors say the 57-year-old actor entered the hospital Wednesday for treatment of an abcess that formed after an Oct. 8 operation to remove a lung because of a fungus infection.

On Saturday, doctors reported the abcess had been drained successfully and listed Taylor in good condition.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Television producer Aaron Spelling, 42, and his bride, Candy Maher, 23, are delaying their honeymoon so Spelling can work on his current production "Mod Squad."

His TV series have included "Burke's Law," "Dick Powell Presents," "The Guns of Will Sonnet," and "The Addams Family."

The wedding, performed Saturday in the home of Miss Maher's parents, was the second for each. Spelling formerly was married to actress Carolyn Jones. Miss Maher was divorced in 1964 from businessman Howard Leveson.

DETROIT (AP) — "He's probably going to lose a lot of customers after this," Gus Pulter joked Sunday about the physician who delivered quadruplets ot Pulter's wife, Pamela, 31.

The three girls and a boy were described as healthy and normal, and weighed 14 pounds 12 ounces; 4 pounds, 2 ounces; 3 pounds, 5 ounces and 3 pounds, 4 ounces.

The Pulters have two other children, Brian, 6, and Todd, 1.

Pulter, 34, spent Sunday afternoon at Tiger Stadium watching the Detroit-New Orleans National Football League game. The teams tied 20-20.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pianist Vladimir Horowitz had to interrupt his Carnegie Hall concert Sunday afternoon. A string broke on his piano. While he was playing Rachmaninoff.

A man rushed from the wings with a small tool kit, cut the string at the end where it was still attached, pulled the full length of it out of the grand piano, and rushed back to the wings.

Because each key has three strings, the piano could still be played.

Horowitz resumed, and finished the program. In response to thunderous applause, he played four encores.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingrid Bergman and Walter Matthau have been signed to costar in the film version of the Broadway comedy, "Cactus Flower," Columbia Pictures has announced. It will begin filming in Hollywood in January. Mike Frankovich will produce, and Gene Saks will direct, with the script by I.A.L. Diamond.

Deer Statue Covered To Thwart Hunters

GREENVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Elwood Crawford has taken precaution to prevent anyone driving north from Greenville from making a mistake during deer hunting season.

The statue is of a buck deer.

Cliff Binckley, 77, Claimed At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cliff B. Binckley, 77, former professional wrestler and one-time sparring partner of heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey, died Sunday in a Columbus hospital.

In recent years Binckley lived in Lakeview, Logan County, and Indian Lake. He is survived by the widow and a daughter.

Ford Claims Nixon Will End Vietnam War

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., says Richard M. Nixon will provide fresh impetus to end the Vietnam conflict after he becomes president, "if it isn't ended before then."

"He'll be in a position to do much like Ike did at the time of the Korean War," said the House minority leader, referring to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Despite the Democratic majority in both houses, Ford said, Nixon will be able to get along better with the 91st Congress than Hubert Humphrey would have if his White House bid had succeeded.

Ford, speaking Saturday at a convention of the Radio-Television News Directors Association, said the new Congress will be "philosophically more aligned with Nixon than Humphrey regardless of party labels."

Housing Development Dedicated In Bronx

NEW YORK (AP) — A $293.8-million middle-income cooperative housing development, which eventually will house more than 50,000 residents, has been dedicated in the Bronx.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, speaking Sunday at the 300-acre site, hailed it as a "spectacular and heart-warming answer to the housing problems of the nation's cities.

On Dec. 10, the first residents will start moving into the one building completed thus far—a 24-story structure.

Co-op City, as it is to be called, is expected to be completed in 1971, with 35 buildings ranging from 24 to 33 stories each, plus 238 three-story townhouses.

Co-op City is sponsored by the United Housing Foundation, a federation of 62 nonprofit organizations.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Louie Nye Resigned To Fate

Comedian Louis Nye no longer worries about not having a TV series of his own, and that is a large worry for any comic to unload. A weekly TV series is still "the big time" for all performers (also the big money), and to content yourself without it is not easy.

Hal Humphrey

"I'm working at the good night clubs and on TV shows like Jackie Gleason's. I've got a Johnny Winters coming up with a funny sketch of the two of us playing retired English officers, and Jack Jones, Nancy Sinatra and I taped the "Ice Capades of 1969' in Atlantic City for a TV special," says an apparently relaxed Louis.

-:-

WHEN I TALKED with him, Louis was just winding up an engagement at the Las Vegas Tropicana with Si Zentner's band and singer Helen O'Connell. His monolog included the devastating take off of an old Army sergeant addressing a new batch of recruits. The audience loved it.

"You never know about these Vegas audiences," says Louis. "Sometimes they just sit there, stoned out of their heads. But after the show they'll come up to me in the casino, grab my arm and say, 'You're all right, see,' then go right back to playing the slot machines. Makes you feel kinda warm all over."

At least, as Louis adds, he can trust a night club audience and learn from it, which is something a comic can't do with a TV studio audience which is primed to laugh at anything by an advance "warmup" and an electric "applause" sign flashing.

It's been 10 years since Louis, Tom Poston and Don Knotts were the stock company for the old Steve Allen Hour.

Don got the biggest break after that when he joined the Andy Griffith Show. Tom became a regular panel member of "To Tell the Truth." Louis appeared with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball in their movie, "The Facts of Life."

After that Louis was talked about for TV series, including one which Ann Sothern wanted to back, in which he would play a dentist. It was a character he'd created in several episodes of Ann's second TV series, but that was as far as it got.

ONE SEASON Louis was introduced as Sonny Drysdale, offspring of banker Drysdale in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

He did six episodes, and received more mail than from anything else he'd ever done on TV, but the character was dropped. It was rumored that someone in the network or a sponsor though Sonny was too "sissified."

Louis wanted to do a series based on a debonair but funny detective. This was before Don Adams and 'Get Smart," but no one was interested. It was the year, says Louis, when TV producers wanted. "widowers with three sons or three daughters."

"Talking to anyone in charge at TV now is like talking to a blank wall," reports Louis. "They don't really listen; then when you're through talking, one of the program men will ask, 'What's your objection to being a baby doctor?' "

LOUIS RETREATS from such sessions these days without any remorse and signs up to do another TV commercial. Things aren't any saner in that field, but the pay is good and it's all over in two or three days. He even had a little old lady come up to him recently in a supermarket and asks for his autograph on a package of bacon.

"It was the bacon I do the commercial for and my picture is on the wrapper," he admits, a trifle sheepishly.

At the moment Louis is looking forward to another guest shot on Jackie Gleason's show.

"That is a real experience. The first day in Miami you do nothing. Jackie takes you over to the rehearsal and orders you a drink, and you sit and talk. He drinks champagne, by the way. Well, anyway, after you begin to look a little damp, Jackie orders a car for you and instructs the driver, 'Take him home.' "

One thing for certain, if Louis had his own series there'd be no time for anything like that, because he's too much of a worrier.

Personalities In The News

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Robert Taylor probably will leave St. John's Hospital by Tuesday after undergoing treatment for an infection that complicated his recovery from lung surgery, his family said Sunday night.

Doctors say the 57-year-old actor entered the hospital Wednesday for treatment of an abcess that formed after an Oct. 8 operation to remove a lung because of a fungus infection.

On Saturday, doctors reported the abcess had been drained successfully and listed Taylor in good condition.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Television producer Aaron Spelling, 42, and his bride, Candy Maher, 23, are delaying their honeymoon so Spelling can work on his current production "Mod Squad."

His TV series have included "Burke's Law," "Dick Powell Presents," "The Guns of Will Sonnet," and "The Addams Family."

The wedding, performed Saturday in the home of Miss Maher's parents, was the second for each. Spelling formerly was married to actress Carolyn Jones. Miss Maher was divorced in 1964 from businessman Howard Leveson.

DETROIT (AP) — "He's probably going to lose a lot of customers after this," Gus Pulter joked Sunday about the physician who delivered quadruplets of Pulter's wife, Pamela, 31.

The three girls and a boy were described as healthy and normal, and weighed 14 pounds 12 ounces; 4 pounds, 2 ounces; 3 pounds, 5 ounces and 3 pounds, 4 ounces.

The Pulters have two other children, Brian, 6, and Todd, 1.

Pulter, 34, spent Sunday afternoon at Tiger Stadium watching the Detroit-New Orleans National Football League game. The teams tied 20-20.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pianist Vladimir Horowitz had to interrupt his Carnegie Hall concert Sunday afternoon. A string broke on his piano. While he was playing Rachmaninoff.

A man rushed from the wings with a small tool kit, cut the string at the end where it was still attached, pulled the full length of it out of the grand piano, and rushed back to the wings.

Because each key has three strings, the piano could still be played.

Horowitz resumed, and finished the program. In response to thunderous applause, he played four encores.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingrid Bergman and Walter Matthau have been signed to costar in the film version of the Broadway comedy, "Cactus Flower," Columbia Pictures has announced. It will begin filming in Hollywood in January. Mike Frankovich will produce, and Gene Saks will direct, with the script by I.A.L. Diamond.

Deer Statue Covered To Thwart Hunters

GREENVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Elwood Crawford has taken precaution to prevent anyone driving north from Greenville from making a mistake during deer hunting season.

A statue on her lawn, directly in front of a picture window, is draped in a house coat and has a man's shirt thrown over its head.

The statue is of a buck deer.

Cliff Binckley, 77, Claimed At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cliff B. Binckley, 77, former professional wrestler and one-time sparring partner of heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey, died Sunday in a Columbus hospital.

In recent years Binckley lived in Lakeview, Logan County, and Indian Lake. He is survived by the widow and a daughter.

Ford Claims Nixon Will End Vietnam War

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., says Richard M. Nixon will provide fresh impetus to end the Vietnam conflict after he becomes president, "if it isn't ended before then."

"He'll be in a position to do much like Ike did at the time of the Korean War," said the House minority leader, referring to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Despite the Democratic majority in both houses, Ford said, Nixon will be able to get along better with the 91st Congress than Hubert Humphrey would have if his White House bid had succeeded.

Ford, speaking Saturday at a convention of the Radio-Television News Directors Association, said the new Congress will be "philosophically more aligned with Nixon than Humphrey regardless of party labels."

Housing Development Dedicated In Bronx

NEW YORK (AP) — A $293.8-million middle-income cooperative housing development, which eventually will house more than 50,000 residents, has been dedicated in the Bronx.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, speaking Sunday at the 300-acre site, hailed it as a "spectacular and heart-warming answer to the housing problems of the nation's cities.

On Dec. 10, the first residents will start moving into the one building completed thus far—a 24-story structure.

Co-op City, as it is to be called, is expected to be completed in 1971, with 35 buildings ranging from 24 to 33 stories each, plus 238 three-story townhouses.

Co-op City is sponsored by the United Housing Foundation, a federation of 62 nonprofit organizations.

Junior Editors Quiz on EQUINOX

QUESTION: Are there times when days and nights are of equal length?

* * * *

ANSWER: There are two such times each year, about March 21, called the spring equinox and about September 23, the fall equinox. To understand this, remember that the earth remains tilted as it travels around the sun in one year. In (1), this tilt is toward the sun; more light is falling on the U.S.A., making it summer, also making the days longer than the nights. In (3), the earth has moved all the way to the other side of the sun; now the tilt of its northern hemisphere is away from the sun; it's winter in the U.S.A. with longer nights than days. In between these situations is (2). Here, the earth's tilt is toward us rather than toward or away from the sun. Thus, the sunlight is falling directly down on the equator and its light comes exactly from the North to the South Pole, so that day and night are equal all over the earth. These are the two equinoxes of spring and fall. Equinox means equal day and equal night. Because of the unequal heating of the earth at these times, we often experience severe equinoxial storms.

(Celia Renault of Chattanooga, Tenn., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Nov. 25, the 330th day of 1968. There are 36 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1758, in the French and Indian war, the British captured Ft. Duquesne.

In 1863, federal troops captured Missionary Ridge in the final day of the Civil War battle at Lookout Mountain, Tenn.

In 1920, station WTAW of College Station, Tex., broadcast the first play-by-play description of a football game in radio history.

In 1943, during the Pacific war, allied planes raided the Japanese-held island of Formosa.

In 1957, the American public was stunned by an announcement that President Dwight D. Eisenhower had suffered a mild stroke.

Ten years ago — It was announced that the United States planned to launch space probes at the rate of 8 to 12 each year, starting in 1959.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

One year ago—More than 75 persons died in the South American country of Colombia after eating bread contaminated by an insecticide.
